SEE PROSPECT FOR EARLY PEACE IN COAL SITUATION

Whole Trouble Now on Basis That Promises Adjustment With But Brief Suspension of Work.

Cleveland, O., March 30.—Practically the whole coal situation, disturbed by the anthracite and bituminous miners' wage scale, today was put on a basis whereby it is thought all differences will be settled amicably with only a short suspension of work.

The announcement from Philadelphia that the anthracite operators and miners will confer in Philadelphia on April 19 to secure terms of a new wage agreement, thus reopening their negotiations broken off in New York on March 13, was followed by statements of union officials here that they were anxious to avoid a strike.

The anthracite mines will shut down Sunday at midnight when the present wage agreement expires. The fact that ten days then will elapse before negotiations are resumed and also the necessity of submitting any terms that may be agreed upon to a referendum vote of the union make it probable, according to union officials, that the suspension in the anthracite mines will continue for a month.

The conference of bituminous operators and miners announced today that the essential details of an agreement in their districts had been decided upon. The chief provision is for an increase in pay to the men of 5 cents a ton. As it is less than the miners asked it, too, will have to be submitted to a referendum vote of the union before it may become effective. This, the miners say, will entail a short suspension in the bituminous mines.

After signing the agreement the bituminous conference adjourned without date. The miners' policy committee then met to formulate an agreement to submit to a referendum vote of the miners.

CONFERENCE APRIL 10.

Anthracite Operators and Miners Arrange for Meeting.

Philadelphia, March 30.—As the result of telegrams exchanged today between George F. Baer, representing the operators, and John P. White and other officials of the Mine Workers' union, a conference will be held in this city on April 10 to discuss the demands of the anthracite men for higher wages and better working conditions.

Today's development is exactly the situation that has been looked for by those who have been in the labor troubles in the mining regions. It is now expected that each side will come to something and that an agreement will soon follow. The suspension, if precedents are followed, will probably remain in force until an agreement is formally entered into.

STARTED LAST SHIFT.

Hazleton, Pa., March 30.—Declaring that they would remain out until the suspension was at an end, the miners of the Hazleton district started their last shift this morning before their agreement with the operators expires Sunday night. Company officials look for a general idleness of the collieries Monday.

MINERS QUIT WORK.

Shamokin, Pa., March 30.—Not waiting for the United Mine Workers' leaders' suspension order to go into effect next Monday, many miners quit work today, while large numbers entered the mines and took their tools home. As a result, the collieries were short handed. Since the suspension order was issued the strike sentiment has grown much stronger.

DUNMORE SHOPS CLOSE.

Seranton, Pa., March 30.—The Erie railroad today ordered the closing of its shops at Dunmore, throwing idle 600 workmen, owing to the mining situation.

Secretary John Mack, of district No. 1, United Mine workers, said the demand for working buttons in the first district shows that already over 30,000 of the 71,000 mine workers in the Scranton

ATLANTIC CITY HAS BIG BLAZE

Six Firemen Hurt in Fighting Flames Which Wiped Out Young Ocean Pier—Loss is $250,000.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 30.—Young Ocean pier, one of the big features along the sea front of this resort was destroyed by fire early today. During the progress of the fire six firemen were injured.

The pier was about 2,500 feet long. The whole structure with the exception of about 150 feet at the shore end was completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $250,000 and is only partly covered by insurance.

The flames were discovered shortly after midnight, in one of the dressing rooms of the theater. Before the watchman could sound an alarm, the fire spread to the stage and then the lead breeze carried it out toward the sea. The entire fire departments of the city and Ventnor were concentrated on the theater to prevent the flames from reaching the boardwalk, and in this they succeeded, though the wind carried the fire out on the pier, until the fish nets were reached at the end of the structure.

PACKING HOUSE BURNS.

Boston, March 30.—A five-story wooden building in the Brighton abattoir containing hundreds of tons of pork products, was destroyed by fire early today with a loss of $100,000. Three pork produce companies, the Brighton Packing company, the Hanschmachers and Cunningham company and the New England Rendering company, all occupants of the burning structure, suffered. Several hundred hogs were confined in pens adjoining the burning building. A hundred or more in danger of being burned or suffocated were turned loose and in a short time were wandering through the residential section of Brighton. The fire originated in the upper part of the building.

ONE KILLED; TWO INJURED.

Fatality Results When Locomotive Boiler Explodes.

Tuscola, Ill., March 30.—Brakeman Alva Fridle was killed and Engineer D. R. Setrow and Fireman W. E. Peters were seriously injured when the boiler of the locomotive of a freight train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad exploded here today.

FIND MAN DEAD ALONG ROADSIDE

Lifeless Body of William Zimmerman Discovered Near Spencerville.

HAD LAIN ALL NIGHT

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Auburn, Ind., March 30.—William Zimmerman, who was a tenant on the farm of Mrs. Emma Abel, about four miles east of Spencerville, was found dead lying along the road side, at 10 o'clock this forenoon by some farmers who were passing on their way to Spencerville.

Zimmerman had left his home early Friday afternoon to go to Spencerville. It is supposed that he died while on his way home in the evening, his death being due to an epileptic seizure to which he was subject. Evidently his body had lain there all through the night. Because of the muddy condition few people passed on the road, and the body was not discovered until this forenoon. Coroner Briggs, of Butler, the coroner of DeKalb county, was called and investigated the case. Mr. Zimmerman was 63 years of age. He is survived by his widow and the following children: Nellie, who lives in Fort Wayne; Elta, who lives at Butler Center; and Benjamin and William, who live with their mother. The Zimmerman family had moved to the Abel farm only a week ago, coming from Spencerville.

SENATE TURNS TO SMOOT BILL

Sherwood $1-a-Day Measure Rejected by Vote of 46 to 21.

GOES TO CONFERENCE

Washington, March 30.—The senate last night by a vote of 21 to 46 rejected the Sherwood dollar-a-day pension bill which had passed the house, and then adopted, 66 to 16, the Smoot general age and service pension measure, under which the pension roll would be increased by $20,000,000 annually during the next five years.

The bill requires beneficiaries to have served 90 days and provides pensions ranging from $13 to $30 a month, instead of a 60 day minimum and $15 to $30 pension, as in the house measure. The bill now goes to conference with the house. The shadow of a possible presidential veto hangs over the measure.

The senate added provisions that would prohibit attorneys' fees and that would grant $30 a month to former soldiers disabled by service, wounds or disease, the latter being estimated to add $2,500,000 to the annual outlay under the bill.

The entire negative vote on the final passage of the bill was cast by democratic senators from southern states. The northern democrats voted with the republicans for the bill.

The twenty-one senators whose vote rejected the house Sherwood bill, the real contest of the day, were: Chilton, West Virginia; Culbertson, Texas; Foster and Thornton, Louisiana; Hitchcock, Nebraska; Johnson and Gardner, Maine; Johnston, Alabama; Lynn and Shively, Indiana; Lea, Tennessee; Martine, New Jersey; Overman and Simmons, North Carolina; Owen, Oklahoma; Percy and Williams, Mississippi; Raynor, Maryland; Swanson, Virginia; Smith, Georgia, and Smith, South Carolina. On this vote the northern democrats voted in the negative because they preferred the Smoot bill and the southern democrats because they opposed both the house bill and the senate measure.

Mgt. Kennedy and several Americans Are Given Audience.

Rome, March 30.—Pope Pius today received Mgt. Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American college in Rome, who handed to him the "Pater Noster" from the diocese of Newark and also presented a number of American citizens. The pontiff appeared to be in his usual health.

DRESS STANDARD FOR SCHOOL GIRLS URGED.

Columbus, Ind., March 30.—To school teachers, chief of police of this city, Frank J. Cooper, announced today he proposed to ask the support of the teachers in the state for a bill to be presented to the next legislature providing a standard of dress for school girls. "High school girls, especially, are flitting with pneumonia in winter," said Cooper. "It is the fashion for them to bare their necks or wear beautiful thin waists and to wear the thinnest stockings, the lowest shoes, the shortest slippers and the deepest cut corsets possible. This is the malignant style of the time and it appears there is no influence that can be brought to bear to correct it and to conserve the health of the generation of girls unless the state steps in and enforces a common sense uniform."

BOY SAVES TWO FROM DROWNING

Mere Lad Rescues Hunters Who Overturned in Tippecanoe.

SOME INDIANA NEWS

Rochester, Ind., March 30.—Charles Bailey and Wm. Hanna, of this city, each of whom weighs more than 225 pounds, were saved from drowning in the Tippecanoe river by a boy, Edward Garber. They were hunting ducks and their boat capsized. Unable to swim they were swirled down stream until they grasped an overhanging tree limb. For an hour they hung in the icy water, calling for help, when Garber heard them and tying one end of a rope to a tree swam out to the exhausted men, Bailey slipped into the water and Garber dragged him ashore first. He then threw Hanna, the rope and he pulled himself ashore.

BAN ON SUNDAY SHOWS.

Anderson, Ind., March 30.—As the result of a circuit court jury verdict there will be no further attempt to give Sunday performances in local theaters. Fred J. Hartman, manager of a picture theater, accused of desecrating the Sabbath by operating his theater on Sunday, was found guilty and fined $1 and costs. The trial of Hartman was intended to be a test case and was eagerly watched by local ministers and also by patrons and managers of the several theaters. Hartman presented no evidence and permitted the case to go to the jury with the testimony offered by the state.

Hammond, Ind., March 30.—Charles Dovel, a prominent business man of Hammond, who disappeared from home a week ago, after he had left Hammond with a large sum of money, was found in a box car in the Michigan Central yards at Kensington, Ill., with a fractured skull. He was removed to a hospital there. The police found his pockets empty and believe Dovel is a victim of foul play.

WANT CHURCHES CLOSED.

Columbus, Ind., March 30.—The indifference of so many people here to smallpox because it appears in a mild form has led the Retail Merchants' association to adopt a resolution asking the health authorities to order all places of amusement, churches and other places where people congregate closed until the smallpox epidemic ceases. They are

FIND LIFELESS BODY IN RIVER

Remains of Chaplain Dallam Are Found Near Meredosia, Ill.

MISSING TWO WEEKS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—Col. E. F. Glenn, of the twenty-third infantry, stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near here, received word today that the body of Chaplain John E. Dallam, of the post, had been found in the Illinois river near Meredosia, Ill. Chaplain Dallam mysteriously disappeared from the fort two weeks ago today and no trace of him had been found until word of his death today. The body was identified by letters found in the man's pockets.

The telegram to Col. Glenn was from a brother of the chaplain, Philip Dallam, of Warsaw, Ill., and stated that the body would be taken to Warsaw for burial. The manner of the man's death was not stated in the telegram, but it is presumed here that the chaplain committed suicide as he had not been feeling well and had been worrying. Chaplain Dallam served as a private in the Spanish-American war and in the Philippines, later being made a chaplain before joining the Twenty-third last fall, while the regiment was on the Mexican border. Chaplain Dallam had been stationed at Fort Niagara at Niagara, N. Y.

FIND MASTRAINO GUILTY, GIVE HIM TERM IN PRISON

Italian is Convicted of Manslaughter for Killing Joseph Yania in Fort Wayne Last July.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Auburn, Ind., March 30.—Kafello Mastrino was found guilty by a circuit court jury here today of manslaughter for the killing of Joseph Yania at Fort Wayne July 3, of last year, and sentenced to from two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville. The jury returned the verdict at 9:30 o'clock this morning after deliberations covering fifteen hours, in which a compromise verdict was reached after one man had held out for a long time for the death penalty and three or four had insisted that he be found guilty of first degree murder and sent to prison for life.

Every juror pronounced him guilty on the first ballot taken in the case and the long deliberation was occasioned by an effort to fix the penalty for the crime. Reports reached the attorneys in the case that a disagreement as to the guilt of the accused was responsible for the time spent in arriving at a verdict, but this was denied by the jurors.

Rushed Trial of Case.

The case was opened here on Monday morning and most of two days was consumed in the selection of a jury. Once the men in the jury box the trial was rushed along in spite of the fact that the taking of testimony was a most tedious task. In the first place the accused is an Italian and most of the witnesses for both the state and the defense were of the same nationality and none could speak English. This made it necessary to work through an interpreter and only the persistence of Prosecutor Harry Biggemann and his deputy, Stephen A. Callahan, enabled the attorneys to get the case before the jury in four and a half days.

Did Not Want to Go.

A woman who was an important witness and who lives in Fort Wayne, refused to appear in court on a summons and an attachment was sent out to get her. She became hysterical when the writ was served on her and Deputy Sheriff Barney Schonfeld had some difficulty in persuading her to accompany him without placing her under arrest.

Marie Larosa, who has married since the crime was committed, was one of the chief witnesses against the accused. His attention to her was the direct cause of the crime.

The crime was committed in an Italian tenement on Melita street in this city. Marie Larosa made her home with Joseph Yania, her uncle, and he objected strongly to the attentions of Mastrino.

In spite of this the couple met frequently and the uncle suspected that Mastrino was endeavoring to accomplish the ruin of his niece and he forbade him the house.

Late on the afternoon of July 3, last year, Yania went to his home and found Mastrino there. In an altercation that followed Mastrino drew a revolver and fired, inflicting a wound that caused the instant death of his victim.

Before the arrival of the police he made his escape and went west along the Pennsylvania tracks. He attempted to double back through Fort Wayne and was picked up by the police. His defense was that Yania attacked him with a knife and that he shot in self-defense.

WILL NOT PERMIT WOOL BILL DELAY

Underwood Determined on Quick Action on Tariff Measure.

PLAN VOTE MONDAY

Washington, March 30.—When the wool tariff bill revision was called up in the house today Majority Leader Underwood reiterated that it must be considered without delay. The plan to bring the bill to a vote on Monday was still the majority program.

Minority Leader Mann and Representative Payne, of New York, continued to denounce the democratic majority for what the republicans characterize as unjust curtailment of time required for an intelligent discussion of the bill. All factions conceded that Mr. Underwood was in control of the situation and that opposition would not be successful. A speech in defense of the bill by Representative Payne, of Massachusetts, who declared the measure remedied glaring inequalities and injustice of the present law, was followed by one condemning the measure delivered by Representative Langworth, of Ohio.

Philadelphia, March 30.—Seventy years ago today Dr. Crawford W. Long, a native of Georgia, used ether as an anesthetic in surgery, opening a new era in that profession, and today at the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, where it was first used, a bronze tablet was unveiled in memory of the event.

WILL ADVANCE WAGES.

Boston, March 30.—Cotton mill owners in New England employing 100,000 operatives have decided to advance wages 10 per cent early in April. It will cost $10,000,000 annually. The estimate is based upon an annual pay roll of $100,000,000.

The Teacher Stands Corrected

MISS CARRIE AKERS, one of Fort Wayne's best known and most beloved teachers of the public schools, has had many amusing experiences in her work with the children, one of which is here narrated.

It occurred at the Highland school. Miss Akers, during the story-reading hour, chose to present a portion of the narrative of the "Wizard of Oz." One of the sentences opened with the words, "In the land of Oz there dwelt a man."

Miss Akers, fearing that the little children might not understand the meaning of the word "dwelt," read the sentence as follows: "In the land of Oz there lived a man." At the conclusion of the session that day, one of the little boys of the class said he wanted to whisper something to the teacher. Miss Akers bent her head to catch his words. He said, so low that the others could not hear it (or he was a perfect little gentleman and he would not do anything to embarrass his teacher):

He wanted to whisper something to her. "The word that you couldn't pronounce is 'dwelt.' He knew the story by heart."

TIPTON GIVEN NEXT MEETING

Fort Wayne Fails to Land
Methodist Conference
for 1913.

WORK OF THE SESSION

Wabash, Ind., March 30.—The North Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference today chose Tipton as next year's meeting place. Assignments will be announced Monday.

Fort Wayne extended an invitation to the conference to meet in that city in 1913, but for the second consecutive year was defeated. The vote was: Tipton, 120; Fort Wayne, 88.

Members of the Association of Preachers Wives, Widows and Daughters, held a meeting at the Christian church this morning at which Mrs. A. G. Neal presided.

Comment on Millinery.
The church was well filled with women and the presiding officer commented on the millinery display, declaring that she hoped to see when women would come to wear hats while attending church.

"Your hats are beautiful," remarked the speaker, "but your faces are far more so, and with them hidden beneath big bills of fur, which means nothing but a robbery of inspiration which he cannot get from hats, plumes and feathers."

The conference yesterday adopted a resolution instructing the delegates to vote for the retention of the clause in the discipline of the church which governs amusements. This clause forbids dancing and card playing and is favored by the majority of Methodists, although many are advocating its abolition.

This clause will be the nucleus of a battle which will be waged in the general conference and whether or not candidates to the general conference favored or opposed this clause depended much upon the support given them prior to yesterday's meeting when they were selected.

A resolution was presented instructing the delegates to the general conference retaining the clause. The motion was carried and the delegates were so instructed.

During the morning session Dr. M. Vahinger spoke on Taylor university, and Dr. Robert J. Aring, assistant editor of the Western Christian Advocate, followed.

Dr. L. W. Munnall, of Philadelphia, addressed the conference and put forth a strong plea for old-time religion.

"We need no revival so much as we need a revival in home religion," said Dr. Munnall.

Robbed Pastor Reimbursed.
At the afternoon's session Rev. C. U. Wade made a motion that the conference take up a collection to reimburse Rev. W. D. Stambaugh, the Warren minister, who was robbed of $145 while on his way here to attend the conference. The motion carried and a collection amounting to $85 was taken.

When Dr. McConnell, president of De Pauw, stepped upon the rostrum in the afternoon to speak in behalf of De Pauw university, which is a Methodist institution, he was greeted with the De Pauw university yell.

"I am not here to say a word against a greater democracy, but this greater democracy is dangerous unless we have greater thinking and more careful reflection," said Dr. McConnell. "Our modern society, like most movements, is rapid, and we must have our ability to bring great movements to a quick stop. The spirit of thoughtfulness is the brake which will stop society. We need to educate a strong and tough conscience. We need a great emphasis upon honesty, simple honesty."

Members of the lay conference who met in conjunction with the sessions of the North Indiana Conference endorsed Rev. Francis McDonnell, who is a candidate for bishop at the coming general conference, and favored the re-enactment of the option liquor law with the county unit, it being asserted that the present law is of little benefit.

Fort Wayne District.
Rev. J. A. Beatty, superintendent of the Fort Wayne district, presented to the conference yesterday his report of progress in his field. The report speaks happily of all the workers in the district, and the remarkable success of Rev. M. M. Thornburg, of the New Haven church is referred to in enthusiastic terms.

The report states that last year the number of members in the district decreased fifty-four over the enrollment of the preceding year. The report tells, however, of splendid revivals in many of the churches of the district.

The improvement of the place of worship of the congregation of St. Paul's church, under the leadership of Rev. F. H. Creelman, is dealt with in the report.

The building of the splendid new Simpson church since the coming of Rev. Mr. Greist is the subject of eulogistic comment. In this connection the report says:

"The Simpson congregation is now comfortably housed in one of the most commodious and beautiful churches in the conference. Many eyes from all parts of our conference territory have been turned with great interest toward this huge enterprise. The entire cost of the buildings and greatest triumphs in church building that has ever occurred in our conference. More than usual credit is due to Brother W. A. Greist for his optimistic spirit, wise leadership, untiring efforts and devotion. In addition to his pastoral duties, assisted by Dr. Wm. Ensel, one of God's chosen laymen, he superintended the entire construction of the building."

As to benevolence.

Referring to benevolence, the report says:

"The reports sent in by the pastors indicate for the cause of missions about $11,000, an advance of between $400 and $500 over last year. The district contributed in pledges to this fund $27,567, with nineteen districts in the state. Fort Wayne district contributed a little more than one-twelfth of the whole amount raised. We have ninety-one Sunday schools with an enrollment of 11,350."

LEAVES TRAIL OF ORATORY IN WAKE

Colonel Roosevelt Talking
All Along the Route to Detroit.

START AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 30.—On his way from St. Paul to Detroit, Col. Roosevelt stopped in Milwaukee long enough to address several hundred persons from his car.

The colonel repeated his argument in favor of control of the government by the people instead of by a part of the people. This was his first talk to an audience in LaFollette's state on this trip. The train bearing the colonel was due in Chicago at 11:50.

FOUR HOURS IN DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., March 30.—According to the schedule received at local headquarters Col. Roosevelt will spend four hours in Detroit tonight, arriving here shortly after 7 o'clock. He will immediately be escorted to the light guard armory where he is scheduled to speak on "A Charter of Business Prosperity." Platform speeches are expected at Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Jackson and Ann Arbor on the trip from Chicago to Detroit.

STILL AFTER THE BOSSES

But Mr. Roosevelt Added Farmer Plank in St. Paul.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—Taking as his theme the fight against the "rule of the bosses," Colonel Roosevelt last night addressed an immense crowd at the auditorium here after his speech in St. Paul. He referred frequently to the civil war veterans, a number of whom occupied a section near the platform.

Another plank in the platform upon which Colonel Roosevelt is to fight out his campaign was brought forth in a speech at St. Paul last night on "Wealth of the Farmer."

Colonel Roosevelt said the movement for conserving the country's natural resources and for bettering country life had not been carried forward since his administration. He advocated a policy of governmental activity in this direction.

Colonel Roosevelt's address was delivered toward the close of a day in which he traveled across Iowa and part of Minnesota and made a dozen speeches. On reaching St. Paul he conferred with political supporters and in the evening went to the auditorium where he made his principal speech of the day. He then went to Minneapolis to make a short speech before starting for Chicago.

At Cedar Rapids, Vinton, Waterloo, Cedar Falls and Rockford in Iowa and Owatonna, Faribault and Northfield in Minnesota, Colonel Roosevelt last night spoke from the train platform. At Albert Lea, Minn., he left his train to address an open air meeting of such size that many persons were unable to get within ear shot of the speaker.

The impromptu meetings at railroad stations were among the largest of Colonel Roosevelt's tour through the middle west and on no previous day did he find the crowds more demonstrative.

SAY THEY WILL DIE SHOOTING

Word Comes from Sid Allen
When Young Bandit
Gives Up.

FRIEL ALLEN TAKEN

Hillsville, Va., March 30.—With grim determination and caution, inspired by belief that success almost certainly will mean death to some of their number, Detective Felts and his men early today resumed their search for Sid Allen and Wesley Edwards, the last free members of the gang that shot up Carroll court house.

It now seems certain that the fugitives are hiding within the surrounded territory known as No Man's Land, on the North Carolina border, and the detectives are confident that it will be only a matter of hours before they are beaten out of the mountain brush.

Direct word from Allen and Edwards came to the searchers yesterday for the first time when young Friel Allen, the 17 year old nephew of Sidna, and one of the eight indicted for the court house murders, was captured at the home of his father, Friel, who left the mountains and came home, expecting capture, because he was "plumb starved out." He told his captors that he parted from his cousin and uncle at the top of the mountain Wednesday night. He declared that both of the men told him as he left that they would never be taken alive; that they would die "shooting at the detectives." The uncle, he said, admitted that he killed Judge Massie, while Wesley Edwards confessed that Commonwealth's Attorney Foster was his mark.

According to the young prisoner, the older men did not deny that they had planned the slaughter of the court officials in advance. He had nothing to say about his own part in the tragedy, being advised to keep silent by his father.

SAYS PARTNER ABSCONDED.

Spencerville Man Makes Charge in Bankruptcy Examination.

Richard U. Bowser, a member of the bankrupt firm of Towser & Davis, of Spencerville, in his examination before Referee Sol A. Wood, declared that his partner, Con Davis, drew $800 from the Spencerville bank and absconded. Creditors of the company held the examination to discover, if possible, assets not included in the petition. Attorney Harry F. Kennick has been appointed trustee and the sale of property has been ordered. Among the creditors are the Fort Wayne Saddlery company and Pfeiffer & Sons, of Fort Wayne, and the Peerless Wire Fence company, of Adrian, Mich. The liabilities exceed $2,700 and assets are listed at $600.

Gibson was caught in Toledo and with Murray is serving time in Michigan City prison. Clarke was given his liberty in return for his confession.

MARRIED IN 1907

NOW ASKS DIVORCE

Wife Owns $7,000 Property in Fort Wayne and Husband a Farm Worth $10,000.

Decatur, Ind., March 30.—Henry F. Judd has begun suit against his wife, Elizabeth Judd, in the Adams circuit court asking for a divorce. In his complaint he alleges cruel and inhuman treatment by the wife and recites a long list of grievances to establish his charges. Among these is the use of most profane and vulgar language toward him and his children by a former marriage. He alleges an ungovernable temper and inability or unwillingness to reason.

The Judds were married March 6, 1907, and for several years resided in Fort Wayne in property belonging to the defendant but afterwards removed to the plaintiff's farm in Preble township, where they resided until their separation.

In his petition he alleges that the defendant owns in her own right property in Fort Wayne to the value of $7,000 and that he is the owner of property in Preble township, Adams county, to the value of $10,000. He also alleges the assignment of the one half interest to the defendant of a life insurance policy of $2,000.

No children have been born of their marriage. The defendant was reared in this city and is well known to many Decatur residents. The marriage to Judd was her second matrimonial venture.

"SWEATNOMORE" DID IT

The book is printed from zinc. I have been troubled with sore, sweaty feet for almost fifteen years and a friend recommended your "Sweatnomore" antiseptic powder. I was willing to try almost anything, for my condition at times made it impossible for me to go in company owing to the disagreeable odor from my perspiring feet. I tried "Sweatnomore" and gained immediate relief. I have only used it a few times, but the annoyance from sweating and the bad odor has entirely disappeared. I do not hesitate to recommend it to any one troubled in the same way, as I am positive your powder is all that is claimed.

Yours truly,

ANTWERP NEWS.

Antwerp, Ohio, March 30.—Mrs. Eliza Daggett, who has been visiting at Hicksville, returned to her home at this place Friday.

The Presbyterian church some time ago purchased property on West River street, just a short distance west of the church, for a home for the pastor and will remodel the house now on the premises into a modern home, work to be begun at an early date.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reeb has been made sorrowful by the death of their son, Clyde, who departed this life Tuesday evening, aged 23 years. He was a promising young man, a bright student of the Antwerp schools and one who made friends with all he met.

Harry Delong has moved his family to Morley, Mich., where they will take up their residence on a fine farm near that promising burg.

Our base ball enthusiasts are awakening and a meeting of the members of our celebrated winners, "The Reds," is called for tonight at the Harris hotel, and it is hoped to have the team lined up as strong as it was last season.

J. L. Deering, manager of the People's elevator, in company with his daughter, Lucile, were the guests of Cleveland, Ohio, relatives and friends a few days the past week.

Mrs. Nora Chatterton, one of the teachers in our high school, was a Defiance visitor Wednesday, and attended the exercises at the Defiance college, in which her niece, Miss Hazel Oswalt, took part.

The county schools are all getting into the game now, since the Armstrong school has "put it over" all convales from other schools and good natural rivalry has got underway, which, if it continues, promises to bring Carrolls township to the front with a phalanx of spellers that will be so speedy they soon will be throwing out challenges to the world, no one barred.

Albert Shultz was called to Defiance Sunday by the illness of his uncle, Fred Shultz.

Another spelling match was held at the Armstrong school last Friday evening and a good crowd was present to see the contest, which was a long drawn out battle with a line up of spellers from a number of the township schools, but after 2,430 words had been fired at them by Guy L. Smith of this place, they were "all down," except Miss Ora Tester, the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Tester, living in the Armstrong district. There will be another contest of spelling at the same school Friday evening, April 5th, which promises to be more fierce than preceding ones. Everybody invited.

Mrs. John Saum and children have gone to Chicago, where they will remain for an extended visit with her brother, Ezra Mackay and wife.

John Coulter, formerly proprietor of the Antwerp bakery, is disposing of his household goods preparatory to removing with his wife and little son to Portland, Ore., where they expect to make their future home.

The many friends here of David Filch will be glad to know that he has received the appointment as rural carrier to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of George W. Webber some time ago.

Ross Monroe, editor of the Antwerp Argus, was one among the number who went down to Defiance Friday.

Sim Hummel and Elmer Parrett went down to Defiance Friday to see how the big power dam was coming on.

Oscar Rupert was a Defiance visitor Tuesday and visited his wife at the Defiance hospital, where she was taken Sunday to be operated upon for appendicitis.

Rev. and Mrs. Ruf. of Fort Wayne, have returned home after a visit here with their daughter, Mrs. L. C. Hesser.

The Fred Ladelle family, who have been on a theatrical tour since last December, have returned home for a short stay previous to the start on another engagement.

Mrs. Harry Gilman has gone to Cleveland, where they will make their home. Mr. Gilman will leave in a day or so, he resigning with the Lattrover Construction company, of Detroit, Mich., who secured the contract for the million dollar sugar beet plant and of which Mr. Gilman was the superintendent.

Marion Smith, of Owassa, Mich., and a former Decatur boy, is in the city for a short stay on business.

Miss Lola Bentz, of Preble township, was here to have her hand given medical attention as a result of a scald which she received by upsetting a teakettle over her hand.

Wm. Mersman is the loser of a valuable horse which late yesterday afternoon slipped near the banks of the greatly swollen St. Mary's and losing its foothold plunged with wagon and all down into the wild stream. All efforts to secure the horse from the waters were useless and death was the result.

HALT IN ANTHRACITE FIELD.

The formal order issued yesterday by the United Mine Workers of America for a suspension of coal mining in the anthracite regions beginning on April 1 had been regarded as inevitable for some days, and it occasioned little surprise. Regrettable as is the fact that failure to agree upon some equitable adjustment of the differences between miner and operator, in order that there might have been no interruption of work, the history of disturbances of this character has been such as to offer some promise that the present struggle will not be a protracted one.

In the past twelve years there have been, including the present situation, a total of four general disturbances in the anthracite coal industry. In 1900 the anthracite miners were on strike six weeks; in 1902 they were out five and a half months and in 1906 they again suspended work for six weeks. In the 1900 and 1902 strikes the coal diggers, through the United Mine Workers of America and under the leadership of John Mitchell, won victories by gaining an increase in wages and a readjustment of certain working conditions.

Throughout all these years the committee of the operators has remained practically unchanged, the mine companies retaining as their representatives the skilled and shrewd negotiators who have fought the battle for them year after year. In the case of the miners, the veteran leader, John Mitchell, is now displaced by John P. White, who is for the first time at the head of the great organization of workman during the adjustment of difficulties as serious as at present.

Both operators and miners have been preparing for months for the struggle which each seems to have regarded as inevitable, but it is much to be hoped that some avenue of satisfactory adjustment will be found, and that quickly. There is little difference in point of cost to all concerned between a real strike and a mere "suspension."

The favorable report of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce to ascertain the actual physical valuation of the railroads of the United States may come to naught, but it is one of the things for which there has been an insistent public demand for many years from those who believe the government is entitled to some knowledge of the operation of the public service corporation which it creates. Movement in this direction has been bitterly antagonized by interests which contended that the affairs of the corporation were none of the general public's business, and whether the bill is enacted into law within the near future or not, the progress of a favorable report is encouraging. Fair appraisal of physical valuation, with the addition of an equitable sum for franchises and what is ordinarily denominated "good will," ought to enable the interstate commerce commission to arrive at a pretty accurate conclusion regarding the precise volume of water in the capitalization of the railroads.

Two opinions just rendered by Attorney General Honan are of particular interest, in view of the approaching primaries. Unofficially, Mr. Honan has advised Frank M. Kircher, democratic chairman in DeKalb county, that party officials may not assess candidates for office to defray the expenses of holding a primary, but that candidates may make a voluntary contribution to the fund, and the official adds that he can see nothing wrong in showing candidates exactly what it costs to carry on a primary. In an opinion to James C. Groves, clerk of the circuit court at Tipton, the attorney general held that a defeated candidate in any general or primary election should file an itemized statement of his expenses under the corrupt practices act, the same as a successful candidate.

Mayor Shank, of Indianapolis, has probably enlisted at least one staunch supporter outside of that city who can be depended upon as one about whom the Shank cohorts can rally when the mayor comes out definitely in his race for the republican nomination for governor. The Indianapolis newspapers advise us that the mayor has purchased and presented a large badge to Marshal John Whitsett, of Advance, Ind., in redemption of a promise made to that official when Mayor Shank visited Advance some time ago. Due note will be taken, also, of the fact, that, not having formally declared himself in the category of candidates, the mayor's generosity is safely without the pale of the new corrupt practices act upon Indiana's statute books.

While Ohio is about the work of constitution-building, she proposes to have all the modern improvements. The provision for the initiative and referendum precipitated the hottest fight in the history of the constitutional convention, but it was adopted by a vote of 97 to 15, again demonstrating the fact that even a small force can put up an imposing opposition on occasion. The proposed amendment grants the voters of Ohio the right to initiate desired laws and constitutional amendments, and to pass on all legislation enacted by the legislature.

Mississippi's contribution to the symposium of free and untrammelled expression of the popular will of the people as to delegates to the Chicago convention is also edifying. Not only were two sets of delegates chosen, but the "regular" gathering was marked by gun play in which one of the president's adherents resorted to the persuasive argument of the pistol in the effort to convince the Roosevelt chairman that Mississippi republicans ought to stand by the old machine.

One member of the New Jersey state senate is fathering a bill to repeal the New Jersey law authorizing the appointment of county mosquito exterminating commissions in that state. He has been doing some figuring and declares that it is costing between $650,000 and $700,000, which he regards as outrageous. Unless the New Jersey mosquito has been cruelly libelled, his elimination ought to be worth the money.

Voters in Michigan this fall will register their convictions upon a proposed constitutional amendment which extends the ballot to women. The bill providing for the submission of the question, which passed the Michigan house earlier in the week, was carried in the senate Thursday by a vote of 75 to 19. The movement has had the strong support of Governor Chase Osborn.

With the stock of the Standard Oil company of Kentucky leaping from $320 to $1,000 per share in the course of a few days, the oil magnates are doubtless willing to undergo another attack and some more dissolution in conformity with the requirements of the Sherman anti-trust law.

If President Madero could have foreseen exactly what was coming, he might have been perfectly willing for Mr. P. Diaz to have retained that job of his down in Mexico.

THE BUSINESS SYSTEM OF CITY GOVERNMENT.

Editor of the Sentinel:

I have been surprised during the past day or so to find that some well-known and usually well-informed business men of this city have confusion of mind in respect of the Business System of Government for cities and the Commission form of Government, upon which latter public attention has been centered by reason of the political riots in Rock Island, Ill. The two systems are not alike. They differ in fundamentals and in form, as much as the Commission plan differs from the older systems which it has replaced. It is because the best development of the Commission plan is itself afflicted with some of the inherent weaknesses which it was designed to correct that those who are advocating the Business System undertake to devise a plan which would afford a practical remedy for the evils which underlie the older form of the city rule. From a pamphlet recently published by the Business System of City Government committee, I take this statement:

"The Business Plan" goes beyond that "Commission Form" familiar to the public as the "Des Moines Plan." Good government may be had under the "Des Moines Plan," and while it offers improvement, the best results are not necessarily a sequence of that form, as some failures bear witness. The evils of the older forms are not corrected under that form, although they are to a considerable degree modified. Partisanship is much restrained, but not abolished, and the important principle of continuing efficiency is not essentially provided for."

The Business System is unlike the Commission Form. It extinguishes partisan organizations and divisions in municipal politics. Under its operation there could not arise such a situation as has distracted and disgraced the Illinois city. That was an old-time political shindy of the sort which two or three generations ago was common in New York and Philadelphia and somewhat later in San Francisco and some other American cities. Under the Commission Form the partisan element in city politics is not extinct. Under the Business System it will become so.

EASTERN PRESS ON PACKERS' ACQUITTAL.

Thunder Makers.

Washington Post: "The position taken by the jury does not seem to be a measure to the shift of opinion with regard to harassing business by senseless agitation and hostile legislation. The changing sentiment will get an impetus from the case of the packers that ought to be felt even within the walls of the campaign thunder makers."

Philadelphia Record: "Insufficient." "If the evidence in the packers' case was insufficient to satisfy a jury of the existence of a criminal conspiracy, then it would be useless to expect any convictions of individuals under the Sherman law."

New York Tribune: "The result of prosecutions thus far sustains the judgment of those who have felt that the most practicable way to enforce the Sherman act is through civil actions to enjoin and disintegrate combinations."

Boston Post: "There is no use to disguise the fact that it is a great victory for trust magnates of all kinds."

Baltimore American: "The judge in charging the jury not to consider the cost of living in their weighing of the fate of the ten packers was right. The specific criminal acts charged had to be established or the innocence of the indicted men declared."

Apologies.

Boston Journal: "It is obvious that many apologies are due the highly estimable packers, and further, that the jury accepted literally the view that the Sherman Anti-Trust law was enacted as a remedial measure to stop the wrong being done the public, but is not strictly a penal law."

New York World: "But corporate guilt still remains personal. The Sherman law still stands as a criminal statute and its enforcement as such is not to be discouraged by the outcome in this case."

Efficiency.

New York Evening Post: "To imagine that the verdict at Chicago puts an end to the real efficiency of the Anti-Trust law would be as absurd as to take seriously Mr. Beck's profound historical judgment in his argument of the Sugar Trust trial, that the Sherman act has cast on the country's industries a 'blight greater than that of the civil war itself.'"

COON HUNTING ON DECLINE

Owners of Trees Object to Destruction of Property and Sport Is Almost a Thing of the Past.

Coon hunting is on the decline over in southern Indiana, according to a report from Owensville, because the farmers and land owners have become timber conservationists and refuse to allow their trees to be cut.

It used to be that a coon hunt was not a success unless the coon was treed in a monarch of the forest, the tree subsequently being cut down by the ready axes of the hunters to effect the capture of the game. In days when timber was plentiful the land owners were not so particular, and it was not uncommon for a hunting party to chop down half a dozen fine trees in a single night. The hunting party that would commit such tree-passing nowadays probably would find itself in serious trouble with the courts. For trees such as the coon hunters used to cut now have a big market value. They are growing scarcer all the time and the wise land owner is realizing the necessity of husbanding his resources in the timber line.

"In the good old days" an incalculable amount of good timber was destroyed in this way. It was not missed at the time, for trees grew almost everywhere, and lumber was not so much of an item as it is at present. The forests had to go in order to blaze the way for agricultural development. There was no especial demand for timber, and vast areas of it were cut down and burned, that the land owner might prepare for growing corn or tobacco. Much of this timber might have been saved if the farmer had cleared his land on any systematic plan, and would have made him independent in his later years. He did not realize the importance of conservation, so he cut and slashed indiscriminately, and the coon hunters helped him, along with the hickory nut hunters, the chestnut hunters, the grape gatherers, the seekers after slippery elm bark and a great variety of hunters engaged in denuding the wooded lands of their products.

It is well that the farmers of southern Indiana and the farmers elsewhere are beginning to take notice of the conservation movement. If the coon hunter must needs chase coons let him catch them on the level or climb the tree for his booty.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Passing of Taft.

Taft, once a bright star in the diadem of virtue, has sunk into disrepute and oblivion. It is incompatible with modernity. Our blunt celerity and unwavering momentum permit no refinement of method, no Chesterfieldian trifles.

Formerly when a man wished to keep his seat in a crowded car he tactfully held his newspaper before him or fixed his steadfast gaze upon an imaginary dog fight two blocks back. Now he just sits, upon his face the brazen, unapologetic spirit of the twentieth century.

Formerly when a man wished to take a bribe he tactfully went through a heartrending struggle. He took out his conscience, looked it over in a kindly way, fondled it, talked to it softly and finally convinced it that a bribe was the best thing for it. In actually receiving the bribe he tactfully made it plain to the bribe-giver that he considered it not a bribe, but a legal and moral emolument for patriotic services rendered. Nowadays whatever conscience he may have left is packed in moth balls in an upstairs closet, and he proceeds on the doctrine that the only thing wrong about a bribe is getting caught.

W. J. BRYAN WILL LECTURE IN CITY

On Behalf of Winona Assembly, April 8, at Princess Rink.

NO POLITICS IN IT

Every man, woman and child in Fort Wayne has at least a hazy notion of where and what "Winona" is. But the great trouble, according to those interested in this great institution, lies in the fact that Fort Wayne's idea of Winona is altogether too hazy.

Here we have, they point out, right at our doors one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the world. Winona is very well known all over these United States except right here in Fort Wayne. Last season over 300,000 persons from every state in the union and from almost every civilized country passed through its gates. They listened to famous lecturers from this land and abroad; they studied under learned professors; they enjoyed music unsurpassed by any; they were entertained in scores of other ways almost to the limit of human enjoyment. Yet very few Fort Wayne people take advantage of their opportunities to enjoy Winona.

Winona has done too much for its patrons: it has always given them more than their money's worth—so much more that the institution finds itself burdened with a tremendous debt. The management is now working to raise this debt, and it looks as though they will be quickly successful.

William Jennings Bryan has been offered the presidency of Winona. Mr. Bryan says he will take the office provided the management raises the old debt and gives him a clean slate for a start. More than that, Mr. Bryan has offered to help remove the indebtedness. In addition to his influence among moneyed men, Mr. Bryan has offered the proceeds of fourteen evening lectures.

At Princess Rink.

The lecture he will give at the Princess rink on the night of Monday, April 8th, is one of these fourteen. So no one, not even Mr. Bryan, will make a penny out of his address in Fort Wayne, but all the proceeds will be given to that famous institution just an hour from Fort Wayne. Mr. Bryan is not soliciting money for Winona in his lecture. In fact, he will probably have very little to say about the great union of summer assembly and schools in which he is so vitally interested.

But he will give a lecture that is crammed full of interest. It is not a political address by any means; the strongest old line republican will enjoy it as much as the old-fashioned free silver Bryan democrat, for all thinking people have given William Jennings Bryan a high place in their estimation. Deservedly so, too, for Mr. Bryan has demonstrated himself to be a thinker of the highest order and as an orator no one claims to be his equal.

The subject chosen for the Fort Wayne address is his most popular one, "Signs of the Times." Mishawaka turned out 4,000 people to hear this lecture. Fort Wayne is expected to beat that number on the night of Monday, April 8th, and cram Princess rink to the doors.

The admission in Fort Wayne is fifty cents. Many places charge a dollar for the same lecture from the same Bryan, so that a big rush is expected. Tickets are for sale at Woodworth's and Miss Emanuel's drug stores.

KILLED BY A WASP STING.

But Relatives of the Victim Were Unable to Recover Damages.

New York, March 30.—"In the court of appeal," writes the London correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association, "a curious case was heard, in which the widow of a man who was stung by a wasp and died from septicemia, a consequence claimed under the workmen's compensation act. In the lower court the judge found for her. The appeal was made on the grounds that there was no evidence that the man was stung during his employment, or that the accident had arisen out of his employment, as was required by the act."

"The man was engaged in thrashing wheat on a farm, and the conclusion was arrived at that wasps which were hibernating in the stack, were disturbed by the engine and came out and stung the man, and the master of the rolls (the presiding judge) gave judgment reversing the decision of the lower court, on the ground that there was no evidence that the wasps were disturbed by the machine, and, therefore, it had not been proved that the accident arose out of the man's employment."

FINDS LETTER TO GHOST.

Man in Tearing Down Haunted House Discovers Unintelligible Note.

Bellefontaine, Ohio, March 30.—In tearing down a "haunted" house on the Miami river, near Quincy, a few days ago, Edward Lowe found a letter, which is believed to have been written to the ghost which many people believe lived in the house. The letter was found in a tightly plugged auger hole and bore the date of 1846. The writing was so dim from age that it could not be read, but examination under a magnifying glass showed that it was made up of dots and dashes. Old residents say the letter was written by a man who said he was familiar with the spirit language.

The house where the letter was found was built a century ago, and was occupied by many families. In the forties a woman declared the doors would open and close at all hours of the night and many strange noises were heard. The ghost story soon became neighborhood gossip and persons came for miles to hear the strange sounds. Many of them left satisfied that the house was haunted, and tenant after tenant gave it up.

Palm Sunday Inaugurates Series of Services at First Presbyterian Church.

PROGRAM TOMORROW

Commencing with the regular Sunday services tomorrow the First Presbyterian church will be the scene of unusual activity. Special music appropriate to Palm Sunday at both regular services tomorrow, noon meetings for men and the regular Holy week services every evening, and the largely attended Easter services in a week are the various causes of activity among First church members.

The musical program for tomorrow's services is as follows:

Morning at 11:00.
Prelude—Moderato..... Bizet.
Anthem—Jerusalem..... Parker.
Offertory—The Palm Sunday.....
Postlude—Hosanna.....
Evening at 7:30.
Prelude—Serenade.....
Anthem—The Day is Past and Over.....
Offertory—Trio—Praise Ye.....
Postlude—Theme.....

The noonday services, to be held every day this coming week, except Saturday, while in the First church, are interdenominational, and ministers from various city churches will give five minute addresses. These are business men's meetings, and men of all churches are invited to attend.

The services in the evening are the regular Lenten services, which have been a feature of the work of the First church for the past six years. These meetings have always been largely attended, the Sunday school room being crowded to the doors, and it is hoped this year that it will be necessary to use the large auditorium. Music is given each evening by the choir, and besides the pastor, ministers from other city churches speak at these meetings.

The general subject for these Lenten meetings is "The Witness of the Passion" and the following speakers and subjects have been selected for each meeting:

Monday—"To the Power of Truth,"
Rev. H. B. Master.
Tuesday—"To the Power of Faith,"
Rev. E. H. Montgomery.
Wednesday—"To the Power of Love,"
Rev. H. B. Master.
Thursday—"To the Power of Prayer,"
Rev. C. Claude Travis.
Friday—"To the Power of Sacrifice,"

After any necessary business and a word of welcome to new members, the talk of the afternoon, "Uses of Hand Work in the Sunday School," will be given by Mrs. Carrie Thinkham. Each department will have time for a round-table conference. Workers in the beginners' department will be told an Easter story by Miss Rhoda Dowell. In the primary room, Mrs. W. C. Immel will continue the subject of the last session, "The Opening Exercises." Mrs. C. A. Miller will have charge of the junior and Miss Mary Gordon of the intermediate teachers. An exposition of the uniform lesson by Mr. J. W. Burns will be given. Several matters of interest are up for discussion by the superintendents, in charge of Mr. A. T. Double. The choruses will be sung by the young ladies' class of Miss Nora Shriver and the boys and girls of the primary department of the Sunday school. The soloists are the members of the choir: Miss Edith Nickell, Mrs. Wm. Miles, Mr. R. W. Smith and Mr. D. Burns Douglas. H. J. Griswold is arranging beautiful and elaborate stage settings appropriate for the production. The cantata deals with the old testament celebration of the Feast of the Harvest, when the people lived in tents for a week. The cantata promises to be among the best ever given at the Plymouth church.

The contest has proven a great benefit to the society and has resulted in doubling the attendance at the meetings, as well as increasing the interest taken in them.

THE YOUNG LADIES' BIBLE CLASS OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

THE YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Upper row—Clyde Siples, Preston Ake, Nubla Hogston, Frank Hickman, Hal ph Sites, Wayne Henry, Frank Sites. Lower row—Charles Welschoner, Ernest Arick, Lee Hemrick, Rev. J. H. McCartney, teacher; Silas Arick, Walter, Brooks, Robert Keller.

As has already been stated in The Sentinel, Rev. J. H. McCartney, who for over two years has been the pastor of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ, has resigned his position as such and tomorrow will preach his farewell sermon here. He has accepted the pastorate of the Christian church at Waynesburg, Pa., and will enter upon his duties there on Sunday, March 31.

One of his regrets in leaving Fort Wayne and the church here is the severance of his relations as teacher of the class of young men in the Sunday school of which he has had charge during his pastorate. This is the class in the Sunday school known as "The Loyal Sons."

His wife, Mrs. McCartney, experiences a similar regret. She also parts as teacher with a class of young ladies in the Sunday school known as "The Loyal Daughters." Both classes, with their teachers, are given in picture in The Sentinel today.

"The Loyal Sons" was organized as a class after Mr. McCartney came to this city. It is over two years old. It is the local class of a world-wide organization of the same name, as is also the case with "The Loyal Daughters." Both have organized associations for religious and charitable work and hold regular meetings each month at the homes of some one of their members. Their work in the Sunday school does not limit the good they are doing in a religious way.

The officers of "The Loyal Sons" are: Leo Hemrick, president; Walter Brooks, secretary; Robert Keller, treasurer. The officers of "The Loyal Daughters" are: Marie Matsch, president; Martha Riehl, secretary.

Mr. McCartney will leave early next week for the same city, and during the week will attend the sessions of the World's Missionary exposition held there.

In his Sunday school work, as in that of his ministerial, Mr. McCartney is particularly efficient. He is a trained teacher, understanding thoroughly the best methods. For the last two years he has been the county superintendent of the teachers' training department in the Allen County Sunday School association. He has been particularly active and has done splendid work. He has addressed practically all of the township organizations in the county.

The Sunday school of the West Creighton Avenue Church of Christ is one of the largest and best in the city, and county, having an enrollment of over 375 scholars and a regular attendance that is always large. The superintendent is C. A. Howell. The graded system of lessons is in use in the school.

With the commencement of next month the school will have enlarged room. The basement of the building has been undergoing repairs and improvements, over $350 worth of work being put in it. It is the intention to have these basement rooms for the use of the primary department of the school. They will be put into use early in April.

The address Sunday evening at the Gospel Mission, 1217 Calhoun street, at 7:45 will be delivered by Rev. F. A. Steven, the missionary from China. Good song service. On Tuesday evening Rev. T. F. Polts will deliver his closing lecture on the book of Revelation.

LOCAL MUSICAL SEASON IS MARKED BY MUCH VARIETY AND EXCELLENCE.

Many Fine Entertainments by Artists Heard in Fort Wayne During the Past Winter—Influence of Morning Musical Society is Widely Felt.

The passing season regarded musically has been one of rather remarkable interest in Fort Wayne. Since late in October, when Jan Kubelik gave a recital showing what astonishing things he can do on a violin, there have appeared at the same playhouse, the Majestic, the all star Russian Imperial Ballet, which, with a splendid orchestra, presented one of its remarkable features, the Russian wedding, with Mikail Mordkin as the bridegroom and Mlle. Julia Sedova as the bride, as a part of a most unusual, beautiful and refined entertainment. Later there came a brilliant star of the vocal world, Madame Lillian Nordica, with Myron W. Whitney, basso, and Romayne Simmons, accompanist. No one who heard that concert forgets Mr. Simmons. His work compelled great admiration. A bit of grand opera in the presentation of Henry W. Savage's "The Girl of the Golden West," with accompanying orchestra, concluded the biggest productions of a musical character brought on by the management of the theater.

What Morning Musical Has Done. The Morning Musical society, which does something every year in the way of bringing artistic performances before the public, quite outlasted itself this season in presenting the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, numbering eighty-three men. Orchestras of that concert are still tingling the ears regrettably of those who did not hear it. On the other hand, those who braved the most disagreeable storm of a winter of continuous snow and icy temperatures enjoyed quite the greatest feast in orchestral work this city has ever had. There were many people who lived miles from theater who walked through the blinding sleet, stood up in crowded street cars and waited in line in the foyer for the "rush" seats at 7:30 o'clock. That surely demonstrated a love for good music.

The Morning Musical society has not had a paying year. That is, its financial outlay has not been reached in any one of its series of artist recitals. For the Minneapolis orchestra performance the society had to draw on its treasury for $300 to make up the deficit in box office receipts. A former entertainment by the society, though not exactly musical, cost the society the same amount. That was the entertainment by Miss Kitty Cheatham at the Anthony hotel. The society secured Miss Cheatham in order to bring the unusual before the members of the society. All in all the Morning Musical has paid out about fifteen hundred dollars this year in order to give its members and patrons their money's worth.

That is a fine record for the society. It is not to be denied that to the efforts of the Morning Musical society is due much of the solid musical growth in this city during the past twenty years. In summing up the musical productions that have appeared, two light operas that have been presented with much finish should not be overlooked. The first was "The Spring Maid" with an orchestra directed by Theodor Bendix. This opera came late in August, before the public scarcely realized that the theatrical season had begun. It appeared at the Majestic and was a beautiful example of the lighter class of operas. The other performance was of more recent date, the all-star cast of "Pinafore," which gave such delight that everybody who attended it felt constrained the following day to tell someone who wasn't there how much he missed it.

However, good musical entertainments have not been confined to performers from out of town. Locally the season has been characterized by many excellent performances. The Morning Musical society has presented a number of programs meritorious from the point of artistic merit. The Apollo club has eclipsed its former standard of excellence in its two concerts.

Chamber Music and the Baillie Trio. The Baillie Trio, a new organization of three concerts that for the character of the music presented and the manner of its accomplishment occupies a place by itself. Never before has Fort Wayne had an organization of musicians playing chamber music that has succeeded in attracting attention and recognition of ability to perform and the appreciation for the finest form of absolute music as the Baillie Trio. Evidently people are learning to appreciate what that dear old New York says of chamber music: "It makes more for that gentleness and refinement of emotion, thought and action which in the highest sense of the term it is the province of music to promote."

Just recently the Chicago Inter-Ocean commented on the fact that citizens of this city have guaranteed themselves to support such a musical organization as this trio. The Inter-Ocean says: "Now is the time of ponderous plans for 'spring festivals' and wind-up sheet promises of a musical gorge, celebrities and show racket. Energy in the service of the art will soon take the shape of a three or four-day spree when the communities will gather up all their dollars and prepare—much as some rural communities concentrate their resources in religious fervor in a 'camp meeting'—for one big set-to with the muses. And the muses, in most cases, will come off second best. The maintenance of a series of concerts during the year would go much further in the advancement of musical appreciation in all colleges and such institutions than these allopathic doses, but the tradition persists like many other delusions.

An interesting communication has come in from Fort Wayne, Ind., which hints the better scheme. This city has been singularly wide-awake in musical matters, however, and its latest movement for a guaranteed series of chamber music concerts is the more remarkable on that account. Why? Because, as a rule, a community regarded as a 'good town for visiting artists' dates' is generally backward in establishing its own institutions. Enough comes in the course of the season to satisfy the public. Here, however, a group of business men have taken the initiative in guaranteeing a number of concerts by the Baillie Trio—an organization which has won no small reputation in this group of states. This is the spirit which results in worthy deeds. It is also the sensible, far-sighted method of establishing such an organization. And nothing creates and perpetuates a high standard of artistic endeavor for a community so well as a regular dependable effort along such lines.

Will Play in Chicago Soon. The Baillie Trio is engaged to play in Chicago on April 9 and will give two more concerts this spring in this city. The first concert, given in Elks' hall, crowded that auditorium to standing room.

Superb Company in "Passers By"

Interesting and Dainty Play Gives Audience Evident Pleasure.

While there are many things of beauty and heart interest in C. Haddon Chambers' new play, "Passers By," produced by Charles Frohman at the Majestic last night by a superb company, its greatest charm lay in the exquisite attention to details and the superior acting throughout of the entire company. Such work as Richard Bennett does during the four acts of the play is art of the highest order. There is an immense amount of "business" and Mr. Bennett, who is on the stage nearly all of the time, does immeasurable little things that suggest a genuine touch. For daintiness and finish "Passers By" is a rare example. Old melodramatic features are dressed up in new clothes. A kindly interest in humanity in general is shown by Peter Waverton, a beautiful and wholly natural maternal love by Margaret Sumners and an example of unselfishness and appreciation of justice in the role of Beatrice Dainton that is not often found in real life. On the act of Miss Dainton brings the happiness of three others. Mr. Haddon has drawn the character with a nicety that Miss Katherine Florence gives life too with a beautiful understanding. Miss Louise Ritter was an ideal mother and her every movement and tone were lovely in their quiet impressiveness. The entire company gave eminent satisfaction. The play is mounted with sumptuousness and elegance.

CAST FOR "THE ROMANY" MAID.

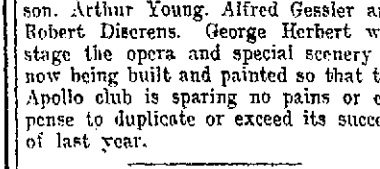

Rapid Progress Made in Rehearsals for J. B. Archer's New Opera.

Rehearsals have been in progress for the past six weeks by the chorus of sixty voices and cast of twelve principals who will unite to produce "The Romany Maid," John B. Archer's second comic opera, at the Majestic theater on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 14, 15 and 16. Last year's production of the Red Letter with such unusual success that Mr. Archer determined to write a second opera to be produced by the Apollo club as the third attraction of its series and much of his vacation last summer was spent in arranging a scenario and writing many of the earlier musical numbers. On his return to Fort Wayne last fall he received the assistance of W. B. Ralston, president of the Apollo club, in shaping the plot and planning scenes, and Mr. Ralston is also responsible for some of the lyrics. It was realized from the start that the new opera must be as good or better than the Red Letter and its creators have the assurance of Mr. George Herbert that this is true. The locale is on the mountains and the story has to do with the love quest of a young Spanish nobleman, who becomes a gypsy in order to win the love of Pepita, the Romany maid. There are excellent musical numbers and the Majestic orchestra will be augmented to twenty-four players. The voices comprising the cast are the best to be obtained in the city and the large chorus has been selected carefully. The cast includes Edith Nickell, Clara Zollars-Bond, Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, Florence Lang, Lucy Bash, D. F. Urbahna, Earl Thompson, Ronald Dawson, Paul Johnson, Arthur Young, Alfred Gessler and Robert Dierksen. George Herbert will stage the opera and special scenery is now being built and painted so that the Apollo club is sparing no pains or expense to duplicate or exceed its success of last year.

HINTS TO THE HOSTESS.

Cards are a source of unending interest to most women and many men and the hostess who selects a card game as the basis of her entertainment is pretty sure of meeting with success. When giving a card party it is well to provide prizes, as in this way the hostess may let her guests know that she does not expect them to play for money.

To invite people to your house and then oblige them to do something of which they may disapprove is an unpardonable offense against good manners as well as good morals. It also shows a lack of consideration for the young men and women who cannot afford to lose money. A girl can often escape by making some excuse, but for a man, who is supposed to be independent in money matters, this is more difficult. As debts contracted at cards are not recognized by the law and are therefore held to be debts of honor, a young man in poor circumstances who is forced by a thoughtless hostess to incur such a liability is placed in a most unpleasant predicament.

Since expensive prizes create envy and bad feeling, it is better to select pretty trifles that please by their novelty, beauty or oddity, rather than by their money value. The exact cost of these gifts will vary somewhat, in accordance with the means of the giver and her friends.

It would be in bad taste for the wife of a man living on a small salary to offer a prize that might be given without impropriety by the wife of a man with large means and rich associates. One's circle of acquaintances usually knows more accurately than one supposes the amount of income the hostess possesses and criticizes any display of extravagance. The well bred woman tries to avoid the two extremes of meanness and ostentation.

It is now thought best not to show the prizes until the end of the evening, and the consolation ones are awarded by lot rather than to the poorest player.

It is important to have the seats of the right height so that the guests may be comfortable. Dining room chairs are better for the purpose than those usually found in a drawing room, the latter being too low and often too numerous. Light gift chairs and card tables may be hired. If ordinary small tables are used they should be covered with a cloth to prevent the cards from slipping.

The hostess herself should not play at a card party unless it should be necessary to fill a vacancy. It would be awkward for a lady to come on her arrival to find every one deeply absorbed in cards and no one free to welcome and talk to her. The lady of the house moves about among her guests to see that all are comfortable, well placed and not exposed to drafts.

A Page of Interest to Women

HINTS ON A TIMELY TOPIC.

That Work Brings Happiness is Not Merely a Maxim But Well Proven.

Happiness is desired by everyone. One of the greatest discoveries of modern times has been the realization that work is the only true way of attaining happiness. As one writer says, "work, occupation, something definite and useful to do, is one of the established conditions of happiness in life."

It is not enough simply to be good; we must be good for something. "All labor is holy," and the only person to be despised is that poor creature who has no conception of the dignity of labor and who makes idleness his god.

There are, to be sure, great varieties of labor. There is one kind of work for which the rich man with means, influence and education at his command, is pre-eminently fitted; then there are other forms of labor, usually classified as humble and lowly, which are absolutely indispensable for the world's good. The millions of honest toilers engaged in the practical, useful walks of life, are the highly honored.

Whatever the kind of work for which one is fitted, professional or practical, mental or manual, or a combination of both, the fact remains true that all men and women are happier if they labor.

Sometimes when we are overtired and long for rest, this great truth slips from our mind. We imagine that we would be happier leading a life of idleness. But those who have opportunity to test the life of ease and pleasure, but the life of work and service.

The Happiest People
Rest is necessary, to be sure, but only to give us strength to toil again. Work and rest are relative terms. If we never toiled we could not appreciate the pleasure of rest. Those who work hard do not rest. Rest that is earned is sweet.

The busiest people are the happiest ones, for they have no time for selfish, morbid, miserable thoughts. Each individual should endeavor to find that field of labor for which he is best fitted, and, putting his heart and soul into his work, labor with all his might to accomplish the greatest amount of useful work in his chosen line.

There is great glory in achievement. Our minds and bodies are made to be useful, not ornamental. If they were not intended for use, they would not have been endowed with so great a multitude of wonderful powers.

Work is absolutely necessary for mental and physical health. Man soon loses his mental faculties if he fails to keep them active. His mind becomes unlimbered and dulled through neglecting to use it. He also loses the power of using his muscles if he neglects to exercise them. All who would live a sane, healthy life must engage in labor, requiring the use of their mental and physical powers. Purely manual or purely mental work is not best. Ideal occupations are a combination of the two.

Work keeps us young and enthusiastic. The great secret of youth is to maintain one's enthusiasm and mental and physical activity.

Work cheerfully.
Work is a balm for grief. There is no better way of forgetting misery and unhappiness than by concentrating all our powers in trying to do our work well.

In laboring we forget ourselves and hence forget our pain and sorrow. Let a man sit down idly and brood over some great affliction or trial that has come to him and the trouble becomes magnified a hundredfold. Insanity and self-destruction often follow brooding. But let the man arouse himself and begin to work at any task, so long as brain and hands are active, and gradually the work will begin to absorb his interest, his thoughts will cease to dwell upon his trouble and as the days go on the great healer, Time, will soften his grief or lessen his trial and peace will come to him.

Hard work, pure and simple, has tided many a man and woman over a rough place in life and has aided many a one to bear a crushing load of sorrow impossible to be borne in idleness.

Let us remember that work, however humble, may be made great and glorious by being cheerfully and willingly performed. It is not the kind of work that counts; it is the spirit in which the work is done.

Ask yourself these serious questions—
Do I work solely for material gain or do I work for the joy of working?
Do I put my heart and soul into my work?
Have I learned to work and be happy?

CARE OF THE BABY

Dear little though she love her little one, it is doubtful whether the young mother ever derives the pleasure from the care of her eldest born that she does from subsequent babies, for to the inexperienced the charge of an infant is apt to bring out a little anxiety in its train. Even a few hours will make such a difference in the condition of a young baby, so that when prompt measures are needed there is no time for dilly-dallying.

That, and the fact that no two children can be treated exactly alike with the certainty of success, means that the young mother must perforce cultivate some of the all too uncommon "common" sense.

As a rule the poor woman is overburdened with advice. What "her" mother tells her today may be by no means in accord with what "his" mother assured her yesterday was absolutely reliable. And how is she, a novice, to judge between the two?

Broadly speaking, the safest rule is to "let well alone." If your baby thrives, you've nothing to worry about. If he doesn't, endeavor to find out the cause, for cause there must be, and remedy it.

The Old Way and the New.
Of late years great strides have been made in the matter of baby rearing, and up-to-date methods have largely routed the "granny tales" one often hears on the subject. At the same time, it must be allowed that there often is "something" in the old folks' advice, albeit the argument they bring forth that "we have reared more children than you, so must know more about them," is not necessarily convincing, especially when one closely studies the erstwhile children and notes defects which care in childhood might have overcome. Meditate carefully on such advice, however, and you will usually find you can learn from it by applying the principle to modern methods.

Today, for instance, but is used for various purposes for which our grandmothers would have scorned to use it. In making them aseptic, other means being unknown. Then the baby with snuffles would have had the bridge of his nose rubbed with Russian tallow, simply because that excellent remedy, vaseline, was not to be found in every medicine chest as it is today.

In the matter of feeding, opinion was equally conservative. The mother must nourish her infant wholly herself or else put it on the bottle. A judicious blending of the two methods was unthinkable.

KEEPING UP WITH COIFFURE MODES.

Small heads are the fashion nowadays. The hair, minus rate or other artificial aids to beauty, is arranged to define the contour of the head rather than to form a frame for the face. In the case of a small head with small, quaint features, this close arrangement of the hair is becoming, but women with large heads and strong features find the style rather trying. Great care must be exercised in the building of the coiffure to have the hair as soft and fit as possible and to draw it as low as may be over forehead, temples and ears.

In order to obtain a good effect the hair must be soft and thick. But, alas, very few women have hair long enough to twist in the new fashionable flat dressing, and soft, it is often not very long, and is simply coiled flat against the head after having been made the most of in the front arrangement of the coiffure. Then a long switch is used for the knot at the back. Two photographs show the latest modes of arranging these long switches, and in each instance there are coils which are made, then carefully planned in shape before being attached to the head. This makes it very easy for any woman to "do" her hair gracefully and neatly without straining to sell their hair to peddlers. With hair unbound, the women seat themselves on benches in the open air, and noisily quarrel with the buyers.

All the hair cut in Austria is taken from the heads of the peasants of Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia, where women with short hair are more admired than those whose hair is long.

The peasant women of Normandy and Brittany furnish most of the fine blond hair that comes to market. The national head dress, the coif, which completely covers the head, makes it possible for a woman to sell as little or as much of her hair as she wants without disfigurement.

The hair most highly prized is the ash-blond shade of blond, known as drab. Gray hair also commands a high price when it is even in tone, and the nearer white the higher the price. The various darker shades are a little less expensive.

These small hair dealers dispose of their stock to exporters, who have it sorted into lengths and shades, fumigated and then soaked in expensive olive oil for shipment. The oil preserves the texture of the hair and prevents any absorption of dirt on its journey across the sea.

As soon as raw hair reaches the sanitary factories it is washed in ammonia, soda and castile soap, dried and then boiled for one day in plain water. It is then dried and then treated with four or five chemicals to preserve and still further alkalize it—a rather rigid course of treatment for a germ, however determined to live.

The wave is restored by tightly twisting the hair and winding it about smooth wooden sticks which are loosely packed into a copper kettle and filled for hours. After boiling and drying, the hair comes off the sticks in tight little corkscrew curls. Once more it goes into the water. This time it is dipped up and down in hot water and dried in the open air.

The hair is now ready for weaving, which is done under ideal conditions by the most expert and highest paid operators. After the hair has been woven and dressed into switches, puffs, curls, transformations, etc., it is again dipped down in a bath of castile soap and chemicals to clean it of any impurities gathered from the operators in the weaving process and to make it conform to the guarantee of being absolutely sanitary.

HINTS TO THE HOSTESSES.

This year it will be fashionable to arrange novel entertainments in connection with the name of Dickens, who understood so well the magic art of producing laughter and happiness. When the celebration takes the form of a dinner party, a flat bed of moss should be placed in the center of the table, and upon this a miniature coach and four, one of the beautifully made toys of the present day, filled entirely with small parcels.

At the close of the meal, Sam Weller in appropriate costume, hands to each guest in turn a silver bowl, which contains a quantity of folded slips of paper, one of which must be taken; on examination it shows a number. Sam Weller now takes up a position close to the festive coach, opens the door, extracts a parcel and calls out the number attached to it. The guests possessing the slip with the same number takes the basket, but it must not be opened until everyone is provided in the same way.

Five, ten or fifteen minutes is then allowed for the opening, examination and subsequent identification of the article discovered. When Sam Weller calls a number for the second time the guest to whom it has been allotted holds up the model revealed and announces the name of the character with whom it is connected. If preferred, guesses may be written down on cards provided by the hostess.

A Dickens Party.
A Dickens lucky tub is in the same way filled with dainty things, which are wrapped in paper, two or three flowers with long stalks fastened to each in such a way that when the parcel is placed in the decorated tub the flowers conceal the contents. Only long ribbons matching the flowers in color, show over the sides of the bowl and are arranged in some effective design on the table.

When a number is called each guest must carefully follow the intricate windings of a ribbon and then draw the parcel which it secures from the tub or bowl. The things discovered should be placed on a table prepared for the purpose, when everybody has an opportunity of examining a quantity of effective Dickens labels spread out in such a fashion that they are easy to read. One of these must be selected and placed in front of each article drawn out of the tub.

How can the Dickens coach or lucky tub be appropriately filled?
Who forgets the worn teaspoons, sugar tongs, and gigantic silver watch Captain Cuttle was so eager to offer when his friend was in trouble, "the boat with a sail" seen in little Paul's dreams? "A bottle of old Madeira" has its tale to tell; a parrot in a cage, the model of a dog, are all connected in Dombey and Son. All these things are easy to obtain in miniature; penny toys are useful and rails upon toy shops will supply everything necessary, even a model of Mrs. Pipchin's favorite pork chop. Many things are connected with "David Copperfield"—all the delights of the seashore; a "daisy of the field" speaks forcibly, Dora's toy dog, the pens and paper used by the immortal McCawber, and the historic ruler. Who can fail to remember the articles purchased as being absolutely necessary for housekeeping?

Keys must be linked with "Little Dorrit" and the tragedies of the Lock. "Our Mutual Friend" is linked with boats and everything connected with river life, all the essentials demanded by up-to-date dolls, the books read by Boffin, the historic bottle found in the dust heap.

A number of every day things must forever be connected the patient life of Little Nell, and all those she met on life's difficult way.

Indeed, there is no book that is not filled with the mention of familiar and every day things, which show themselves in a new light, become veritable mementoes, when we rediscover them in a Dickens coach or lucky tub.

A HELPFUL HINT TO MOTHERS.
Here is the way one woman kept a convalescent child from feeling dull. Her ideas may help mothers of sick children in their efforts to amuse the babies:

"First, I asked the little girl who was sick to cut those pictures that pleased her best out of a pile of old magazines," said the woman in telling her story. "Then I placed these scraps in a pocket on a table and called up the invalid's brothers and sisters, and dealt one picture out to each child in turn. The child sitting to the left of me (the dealer) looked carefully at his picture, and began a story, bringing into it everything he saw in the picture."

"Then the next child went on with the same story, introducing everything in turn in his picture, and so on, till every one had had a part in the story."

KNITTING NOVELTIES.
Some of the long knitted coats made with vertical stripes more in relief than ever are now trimmed with the huge fashionable collar, lapel, and cuffs so much seen on wraps, large buttons included. Radiating devices, such as stars, are employed for these smart garments, worked in loose crochet with coarse hook and wool, in a shade contrasting with that of the coat.

In a quieter style three or four inch bands frame the entire garment, and display a small, unobtrusive pattern in a tone much darker than the garment itself.

Spring Brides and Wedding Gifts

The Easter season is at hand and with it comes the spring wedding. All the world loves a lover, but every lover isn't at all sure that he loves his own particular world when it looks to see him married on the day of days.

Man's place at the wedding ceremony is of secondary importance, for the bride holds the center of attraction. Nevertheless there are certain things expected of the bridegroom and if he isn't sure what these things are perhaps a few words of advice on this subject will not come amiss.

The bridegroom, best man and ushers at an informal wedding celebration any time before six o'clock in the evening wear what are called morning coats. The frock coat is seldom worn nowadays, although it is not incorrect to do so. The morning coat is more "up-to-date" and smart.

If the wedding is celebrated in the house the bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, enters the room in which the ceremony is to be held first and awaits the bride at the altar. After the ceremony the couple, as a general thing, turn and face the guests, receiving the congratulations and best wishes of the friends assembled.

The Easter Wedding.
As for the bride, one seldom sees a wedding gown cut very low in the neck. It is perfectly correct to have the neck cut a trifle low, but it should not be much more than what is called a collarless gown, especially if it is to be worn at a church wedding. At a home wedding one could wear the neck more uncovered.

As a rule, a clergyman prefers that the women should come to the church with covered heads, therefore the bridesmaids should wear either short veils of tulle or lace, or hats. A guest never makes a mistake in wearing a hat at a church wedding, unless she is specially requested not to do so.

At an evening house wedding the bridesmaids may have their heads uncovered or not, just as the bride wishes, as the head covering would be purely a matter of adornment. The women guests should not wear hats.

At a house wedding celebrated in the daytime the guests usually dress as they would for an afternoon reception. The immediate family dress rather more elaborately sometimes, but as a rule hats are worn.

Marking the Linen.
A bride's linen, as well as her silver, is always marked with the initials or monogram of her maiden name. Only what is bought after the wedding day is marked with the initial letters of the wife's first and middle names and her husband's surname.

All of the necessary silver is usually given the bride at the time of the wedding, but what is bought by the couple after they are married, or what is given them, may be marked with the single initial of the last name, or with the combined initials or monogram of both husband and wife.

Of course, a belated wedding gift should bear the initials or monogram of the bride's maiden name, and any silver articles for personal use given long after marriage should be marked with the initials of her given name and of her husband's surname.

When the father or mother of a bride-elect has been married a second time the wedding invitations should be sent out in both the name of the father and step-mother, or the step-father and the girl's own mother, and the wording should, of course, be just the same as on all other wedding invitations. That is, "Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter," etc.

A widow or widower may always issue invitations of all kinds in her or his name alone. Nowadays a widower even sends out cards for a tea or a reception with his name engraved on the card and his daughter's name engraved beneath his.

NOVELTIES IN EASTER EGGS.
Already the "latest fashions" in Easter eggs are to be seen in the shops, and other emblems of this month and next abound. There is the March hare, looking as wild as he is naturally at this season of the year. There are the poissons d'Avril, an All Fools' Day gift, according to the French. Then there are kindred creatures, such as the rabbits, frogs and a whole farmyard full of hens and chickens.

In one of its forms the Easter egg is quite an elaborate glass ornament decorated with hand painting and supported upon a pedestal. Some of the eggs are encased in a silver-gilt frame, in which form they make handsome presents, useful after their first duty of carrying bonbons is over, to accommodate trinkets upon the dressing table.

There are glass and porcelain eggs large enough to hold a certain amount of powder and a puff of a considerable size, while others are tiny receptacles suitable for candied violet and rose petals and for the homely pins.

THE NEW STYLE.
It has leaked out that stripes are to have a finger in the pie of the coming tailor-mades, and already an advance model or two have been seen. To judge by these, tomorrow's stripe bears no resemblance at all to the thing of yesterday, for it is neither evenly spaced nor discreet in coloring. The new idea is developed on a sombre surface, enlivened at wide intervals with a fine line in the most vivid yellow, the crudest green, and the most downright thing in blues.

A little of this sort of enlivening goes a long way; so, fortunately, the striped material is used sparingly. The coat of a suit, for instance, would be built of the stripe, whereas the skirt might be mercifully plain and vice versa. A few bold spots, here and there, will probably face their coat revers and collars of the stripe, thus adding to the gaiety of the outlook, if not to the beauty of their complexions.

SMART TAILORED SUITS FOR THE YOUNG GIRL

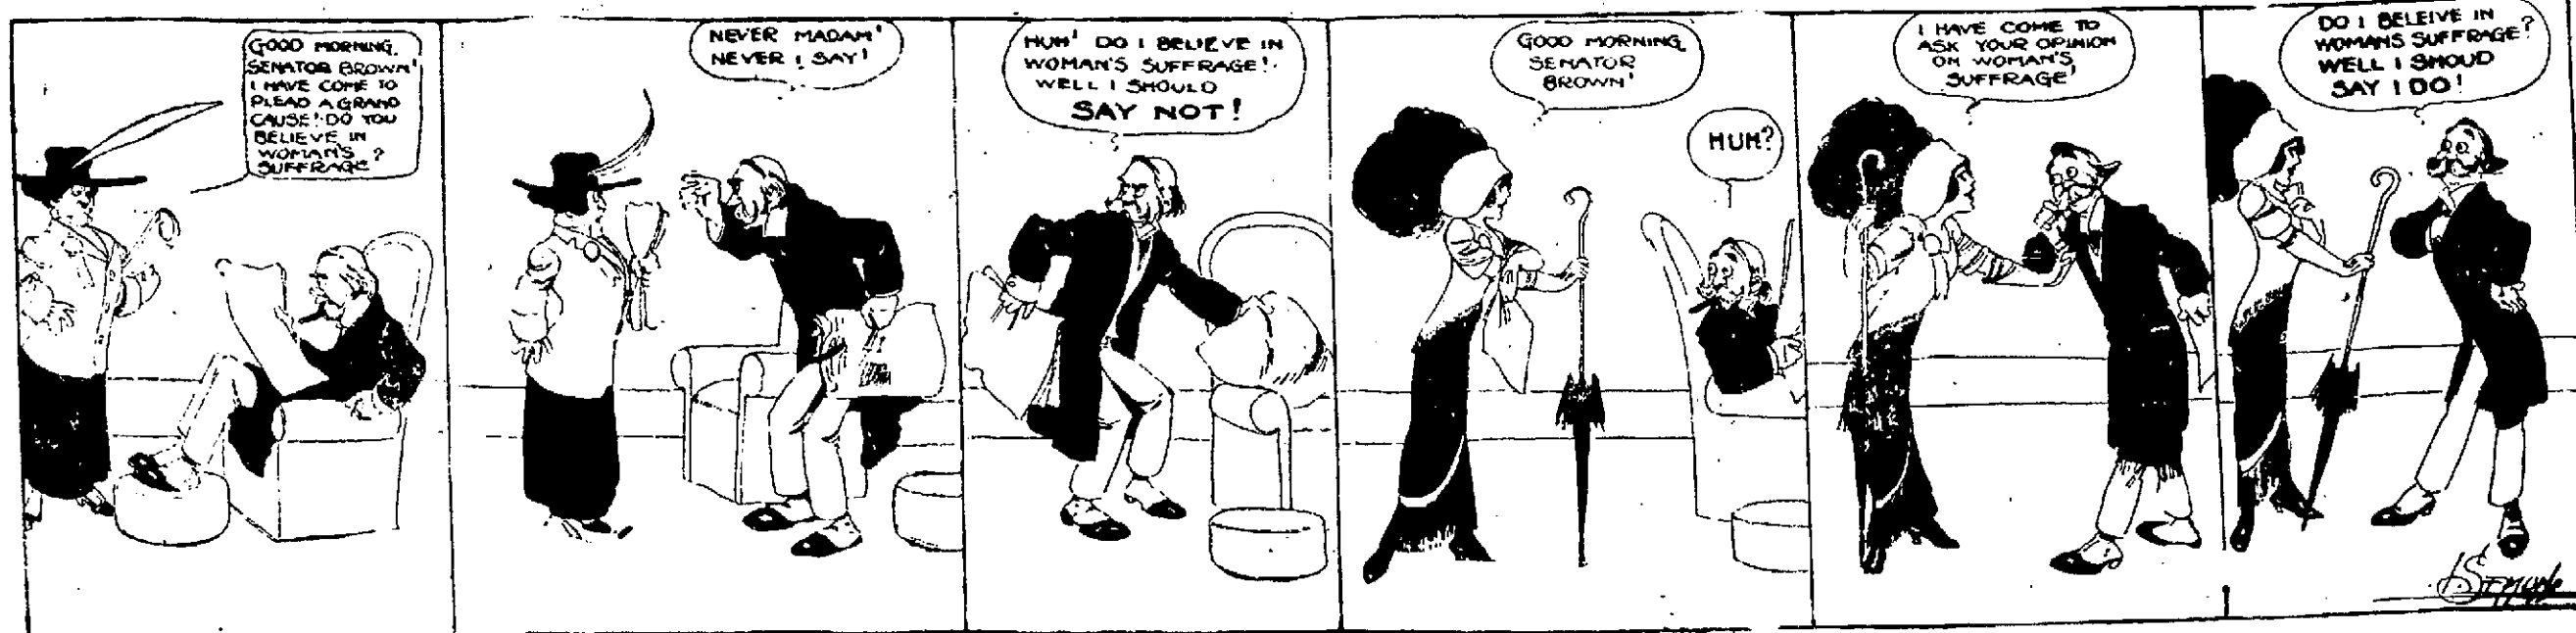

HERE is a youthful jaunty dash about this little suit of black-toned worsted mixture which makes it especially well suited to the young girl. The oblique lines of braids with rows of buttons; the collar embroidered with Oriental motifs; the blue satin half vest; the slashed skirt are all very modern features.
Pretty enough for the June bride is this little suit of dove gray cosmo mixture with revers and cuffs of moire in two shades of violet. The raiding matches (a shade of the cosmo mixture and the lines of the coat and skirt are youthful and straight. The sleeves are short enough to show the embroidered arm, gloves in a creamy tan color.

DO YOU KNOW?

As the manufacturers cannot invent new stuffs, they lavish all their science on the texture and the dyes. The sombre, harshly felted materials of the winter are out of favor. Instead, we shall see radiantly colored and exquisitely smooth stuffs, which in spite of an apparent simplicity will cost more than ever.

IT ALL DEPENDS ON THE MOOD YOU'RE IN

CONDITION TOLD IN LAST PERIOD

College Training Won for Concordia in Second City Contest.

BIG CROWD PRESENT PLAYERS ARE COMING

Condition told in the last few minutes of play at Union hall last night when Concordia college took a lusterful win over the city champions, winning by a score of twenty-seven to eighteen.

St. Mary's players were winded in the final period and their play lost the brilliancy and dash that characterized the opening round. There is just as good basketball material in the Saint squad as there is in the Concordia crew, but the students are in training all the time, have plenty of time for practice and are better able to stand the fast pace that was set in the argument last night.

As a whole the game was satisfying and strictly on its merits. It was rough in spots but not rough enough to injure any of the players and George Sunday was thoroughly impartial in his rulings. He kept right on top of the play all the time and his decisions were given promptly and he kept the players going all the time.

There was no complaint to offer. St. Mary's five wanted the city championship and wanted it badly, but the players realized that it is a most difficult matter to train an independent club as thoroughly as it is one under college discipline.

The floor play of the losing team was faster in the first period than the Concordia, but the shooting was off color and easy chances went wrong because the chinking was inaccurate. Then there was an element of luck that broke against St. Mary's and held them in check.

A series on a neutral field with Sunday officiating and the Saints as well trained as the Concordians would be interesting. The first game had no place in a championship series because it was played on a dark floor with partisan officials that gave Concordia a most decided advantage.

At the close of the first period the score stood ten and ten and the Saints held their own in the first few minutes of the second, then the pace began to tell and they fell back. The game on Wednesday night against City hall was a grueling one and the losers had not fully recovered from the effects.

Concordia was in great form for the game. The players were nearly as fresh at the close as they were at the start and they showed all through that they had been carefully groomed for the contest.

The students were handicapped a bit by the brilliantly lighted and slippery floor but they soon got their bearings and after a lot of powdered rosin had been taken from them by the janitor of the building, who wanted to save the floor for dancing purposes, they managed to keep their footing.

There were 1,000 admissions and probably seven hundred people in the audience. The hall was packed half an hour before the game was called and although the stage at the north end of the building was converted into an amphitheater and every foot of available space utilized for seating it was impossible to take care of the crowd.

The management of St. Mary's club begged and borrowed chairs for the patrons until the supply was exhausted. Arrangements had been made for a late crowd but it was larger than ever attended a basketball game here and much larger than the managers had anticipated.

The crowd was evenly divided as indicated by the applause and it was pretty hot when the rivalry was kept all through the battle.

There is only one Fort Wayne team on Concordia college to enjoy the championship. He is Vanegas, who gave a good account of himself. This game practically closed the season which through the enterprise of St. Mary's Athletic club, has been successful. The score: Concordia (27), St. Mary's (18).

Field Goals—Pell 5, Hafner 1, Claus 6, Vanegas 1, Schabacher 3, Bode 1. Goals on Free Throws—Pell 4, Bode 6. Referee—Sunday.

HOLMES WILL SIGN UP.

Grand Rapids Catcher Comes to Terms With Manager.

Dayton, O., March 29.—Catcher Howard Holmes will be back behind the bat for Grand Rapids again this year. He has agreed to renew his season contract with the Black Sox and, although he has not signed his contract, he will do so before the season begins.

Holmes didn't lose anything by holding out. He would rather have secured his release than to have seen a better offer in another league, but since Smith put a prohibitive price on his services the Dayton boy did the next best thing and induced Smith into seeing things from the Holmes' angle.

"PEPPER" CLARK OUT.

Report from Quincy, Ill., Is That Springfield Catcher Will Not Be Retained.

Springfield, O., March 29.—Word comes from Quincy, Ill., that "Pepper" Clark, local catcher, will not be retained by the team of that city this season. Manager Eddie Myers has arrived there from his home in Dayton, O., and has evidently furnished the information.

Clark was secured from Toledo by the former local Central league club and proved one of the star sluggers of Carson's circuit. He won with the team in Springfield and from there to Quincy. He has made this city his home ever since the first season he played here.

SHAMROCKS PLAY THE LOCAL TEAM

Varnell Gives Mart Cleary the First Booking of the Season.

PLAYERS ARE COMING

In accordance with a custom that is nearly as old as organized ball in Fort Wayne, the Shamrocks will have the honor of battling the recruits for the Fort Wayne Central league team during the last Saturday and Sunday of the training season.

Manager Mart Cleary was notified today by Guyer (Claude H. Varnell) that April 20 and 21 had been set aside for his club and that a new feature will be introduced into the Saturday game. In this performance Manager Shaughnessy will turn over his pitching and catching squad to the Shamrocks and the Cleary battery assistants will be given into the care of the league team pilot.

Fort Wayne will use Shamrock pitchers and catchers and the semi-pros will have professional batteries to help them along. The work of getting the Shamrocks into shape will be begun tomorrow afternoon with inside work at the Barva garage on East Superior street.

Pitchers and catchers of the Central league team and Bill Cleary, first baseman, are scheduled to begin practice at Concordia college at 9 o'clock sharp on next Tuesday morning. A week will be allowed in which Manager Shaughnessy will look over the recruits and those that will not do for the Central league will be sent on optional agreements to lower class teams.

The first squad will consist of V. Roth, William Danley, Hugh Gullino, Clarence Hunter, Fred Bullit, Bradley Valtiere, Joe McGinnis, William Gollrick, William Bailey, William Clancy, Charles Alberts, George Gibson, C. Biersdorfer, Amos Byrd and Joe Vanaman.

On Monday, April 8, the following players will report: A. J. Robertson, Curly Blount, Carl Vandergrift, M. L. McLafferty, Roy Keener, A. L. Fubrique, Fred Sennelbach.

Writing of the training season Owner Varnell says: "I have five contracts in mail that may be signed and players on hand by reporting time. In case they do not sign the players will not be allowed to report. Before the season opens four new men will join the Fort Wayne club. I am not at all this time in position to give the names. Concordia college officers have very kindly offered the use of their baseball field and gymnasium until such time as the Fort Wayne park is in a condition to use. I appreciate their kindness more than I can say. We can have the park every day except Sundays and Good Friday from 8 to 12 in morning and 1:30 to 3:15 in afternoon.

We are now sure of a place to work out. When weather will not allow the club to be out on the field, we will have a gymnasium with rubber-soled shoes and timber up. Give the college credit for the kind offer. We will be able to make arrangements at Fletcher's bath to get what we need there and I think the company will give us a special warm car to go to and from the college in, so there will be no danger of catching cold. I will be in Fort Wayne early Monday morning and have everything arranged by the time the players report early Tuesday. Wish for sunshine.

READY FOR TWENTY-SECOND.

Cy Young Tuning Up for One More Year in National Game.

Boston, Mass., March 29.—Truly, Cy Young is a marvelous individual.

At Hot Springs, tuning up for his twenty-second season as a major leaguer, the old man is being touted as a football box artist of the Boston Nationals. Physically, he looks a good deal better than last year, but what is more important, he has tried his ancient salary wing out and it seems to be working in the same old way.

AT IT IN PHILADELPHIA.

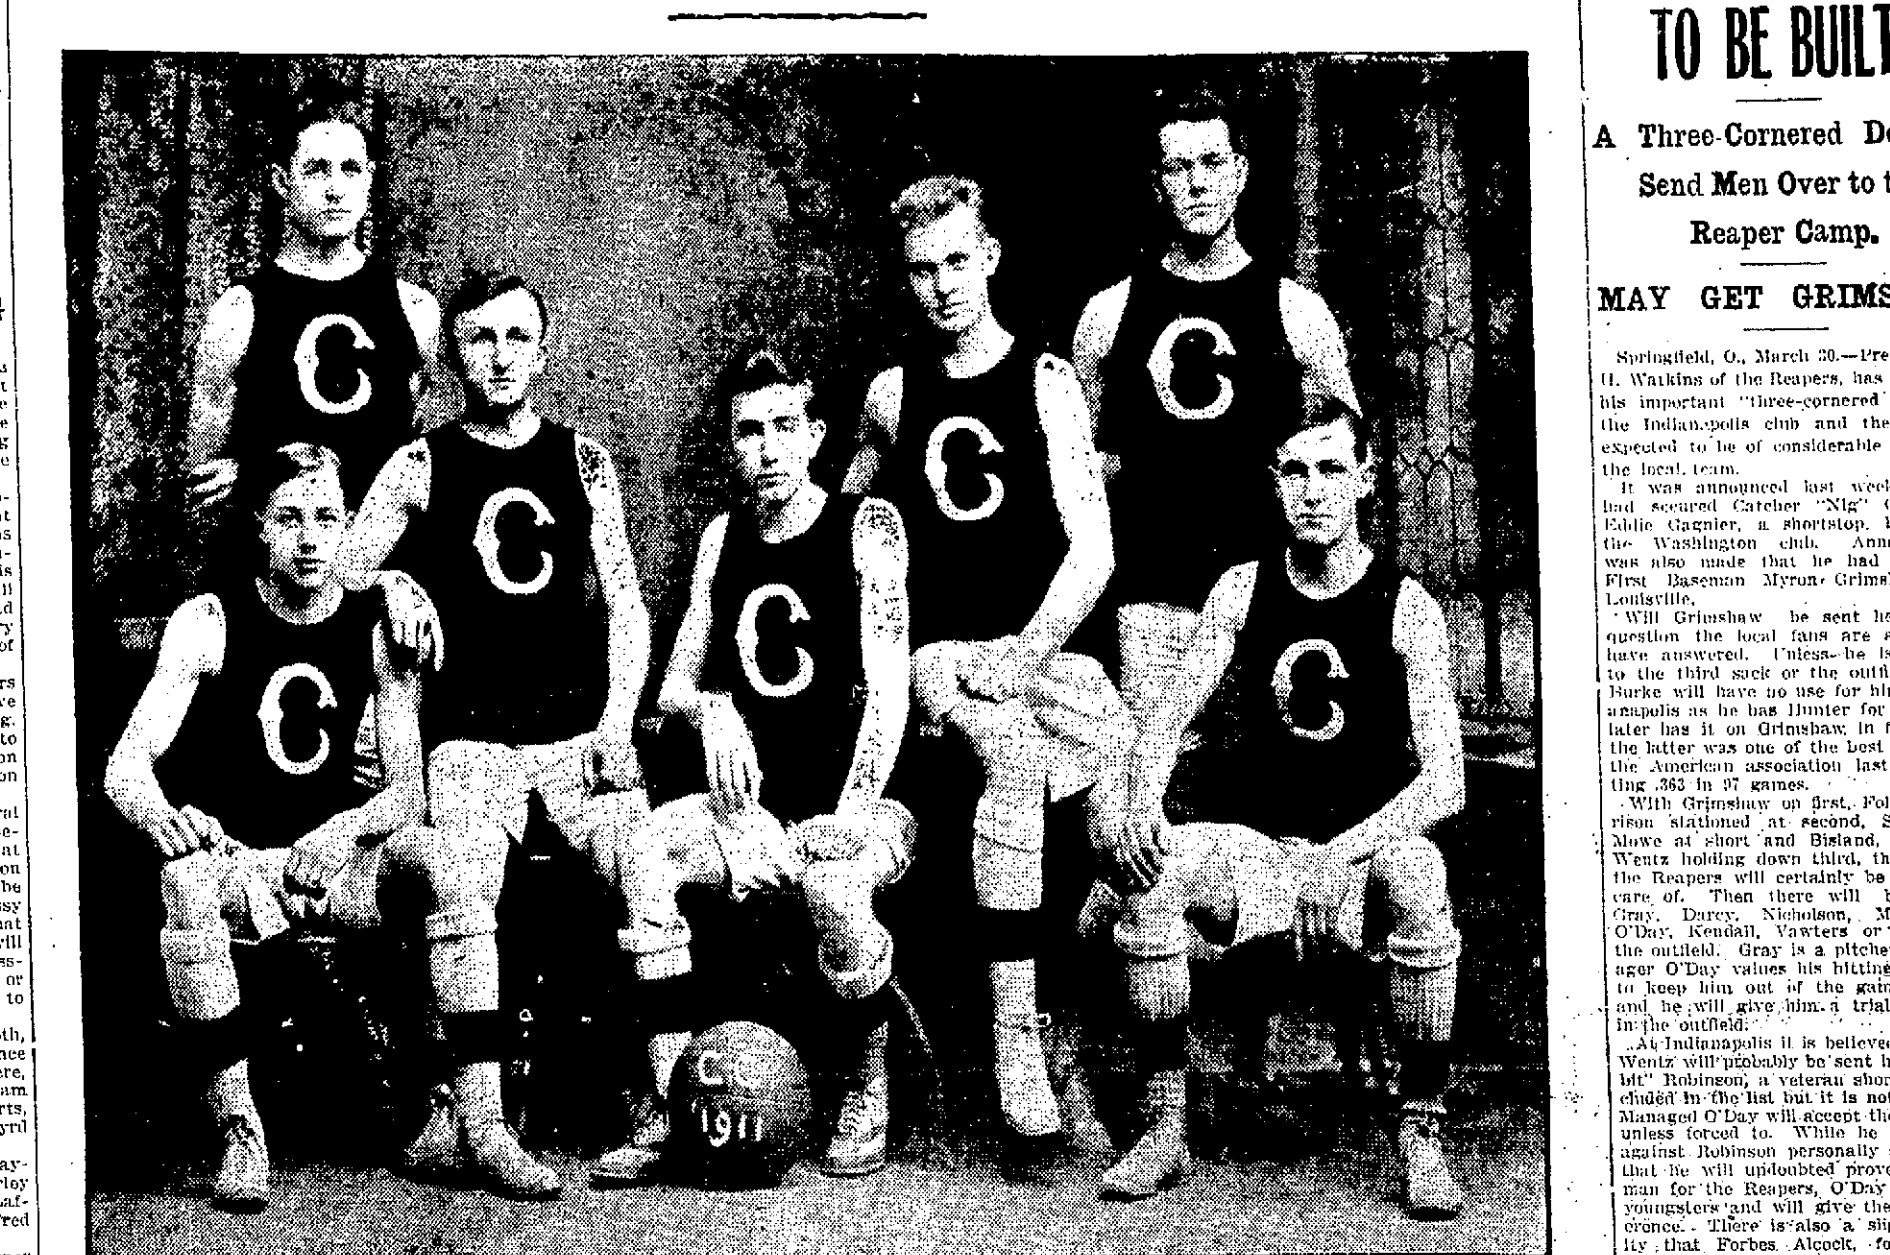

Philadelphia, Pa., March 29.—Clear but cold weather greeted the baseball rooters for the opening game of the professional baseball season in this city today when the Phillies will begin their annual spring series. The game will be played on the National league grounds, Hunk and Egan, new men, will probably be the hot-ter for the Americans while Moose or Alexander will pitch for the Nationals.

IS ONSLOW COMING BACK?

News from the training camp indicates that Jack Onslow will lose out in his fight for a berth on the Detroit catching staff. It is also reported he will go to Providence, but it is a significant fact that Owner Varnell is keeping dark on the catching proposition.

SPRINGFIELD IS TO BE BUILT UP

A Three-Cornered Deal to Send Men Over to the Reaper Camp.

MAY GET GRIMSHAW

Springfield, O., March 29.—President W. H. Watkins of the Reapers, has completed his important "three-cornered deal" for the Indianapolis club and the same is expected to be of considerable benefit to the local team.

It was announced last week that he had secured Catcher "Nig" Clark and Eddie Gagner, a shortstop, both from the Washington club. Announcement was also made that he had purchased First Baseman Myron Grimshaw, from Louisville.

Will Grimshaw be sent here? This question the local fans are anxious to have answered. Unless he is switched to the third sack or the outfield Jimmy Burke will have no use for him at Indianapolis as he has Hunter for first. The latter has it on Grimshaw, in feeling but the latter was one of the best hitters in the American association last year, hitting .363 in 97 games.

With Grimshaw on first, Foley or Harrison stationed at second, Shovel or Mowse at short and Bisland, Deegan or Venter holding down third, the infield of the Reapers will certainly be well taken care of. Then there will be Farrell, Gray, Darcy, Nicholson, Moley Mike O'Day, Kendall, Vawters or Bisland in the outfield. Gray is a pitcher but Manager O'Day values him too highly to keep him out of the game regularly and he will give him a trial at first or in the outfield.

At Indianapolis it is believed Mowse and Venter will probably be sent here. "Rab" Robinson, a veteran shortstop, is included in the list but it is not likely that Manager O'Day will accept the last named unless forced to. While he has nothing against Robinson personally and realizes that he will undoubtedly prove a valuable man for the Reapers, O'Day is sweet on youngsters and will give them the preference. There is also a slight possibility that Forbes Alcock, former South Atlantic league phenom, may be turned over to the Reapers.

Then there is "Rebel" Keen to be reckoned with. Reports from Hot Springs indicate that he is out of the running for the first base job on the Pirates' team. Manager Clarke is using Miller at the fifth sack. Keen has hit .311 in his major league career and he is reported and it may be possible that his chance to show will come later, but the chances are said to favor his being turned back to the Reapers. Keen, according to report, is still favoring his injured ankle, but he may handicap him in his effort to stick in the big show.

USEFUL MICROBE OF SPRING

French Scientist's Explanation Far from Poetic, but Doubtless It Is the Truth.

Spring is interesting to others besides poets and lovers. Scientific men have been studying its why and its how and they now tell us that it is due to something widely different from the warming rays of the sun. M. Muentz, in an address before the Academy of Sciences in Paris the other day, asserted that spring was due to microbes.

When the days grow longer these microbes become extraordinarily active and they set up what M. Muentz calls an excessive nitrification, without which the earth would remain sterile and the sap would not flow in plants. This activity, he says, has nothing to do with the temperature, but is due solely to the hereditary tendency of these microbes to become active at this time of the year.

And it is due to a microbe that the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

Cloth Made of Banana Fiber.

The manufacture of cloth from banana fiber promises to become a great industry in the far east, particularly in India. The process of manufacture is very simple. One year old plants are selected and the stalk is unrolled and steamed over caldrons of boiling water till soft. It is a simple matter then to remove the green outer skin, by passing strips of the stalk through an instrument provided with a couple of blunt blades, which act as scrapers. The fiber thus obtained is placed in cloth and pounded in order to drive out excess moisture and is next cleaned and twisted into yarn for weaving. Banana cloth is said to be eminently suitable for tropical wear and is very durable. At present the price would seem to be almost prohibitive, as a roll of banana cloth, five yards long and one yard wide, sells for about $5.70. As this enterprise is a brand new one, high prices are to be expected; but they are sure to right themselves as the demand for this kind of cloth grows, and the supply endeavors to keep pace with it.

Frenchman's Little Parliament.

M. Chaumet, under secretary for posts and telegraphs of France, has set up a substantial human buffer between himself and the general "kick-ers." He has appointed an advisory committee, 65 strong, and its members include senators, deputies, officials of all ranks down to a woman postal employee and a letter sorter, representatives of shipping and commercial houses and journalists. This committee, which M. Chaumet calls "a little parliament," will deal with the enormous mass of complaints and suggestions sent in daily to the postal administration by the public, and submit such as seem suitable as proposals to the administration.

One Man Out of Anderson's Fold.

Strood and Bemis Sign and the Wheeling Roster is About Full.

SENTZ IS BALKING

Wheeler, W. Va., March 29.—Ted Strood, third baseman, from Charleston in a trade for Jack Byrne and Chester King, has signed his contract to play with the Wheeling club and Pitcher Ben Sentz is also in the fold, leaving only one man out.

This man is Agnew, bought from one of the Western league clubs who does not want to come east and a trade for his services may be arranged with some club in the old organization to which he is longed.

Strood is regarded as a good man. He is an old hand at the game, a good fielder and last season he hit .276 in the N. L. league, which is one class lower than the Central.

There is just a chance that Outfielder Harry Sentz will not be seen in a local uniform this season. Sentz returned his contract signed, but it was sent back to him to have an affidavit made that he is not to get any extra pay. Instead of going through with this proceeding he has written back that he may not be able to report before the last of April.

Although manager Anderson was expecting great things of Sentz this year, Manager Robinson states that he would not be wanted if he could not report and show what he can do. If he does not get his contract in shortly, a deal to place him somewhere else may be started.

The players on the roster now are: Catchers—Harry Welsler, William Miller, Herbert Duganich.

Pitchers—Frank Beatty, Carlos Hammond, Lee Richey, Fred Weiss, Grover Young, Richard Thomas, Mark Lugin.

Al Murray, Oscar Graham, Willis Humphries, Doc Bemis.

Infielders—Fred Erven, Jack Gobert, that he will undoubtedly prove a valuable duff, Henry Thomas, Sidney Nasher, June Quinn, Duke Servatius, Willie Gray, Ted Strood.

Outfielders—"Goat" Anderson, Gus Schwartz, Benny Jewell, "Bull" Durham, Earl Hewitt, Harry Sentz.

NOTES FROM BULLETIN

Secretary John H. Farrell's bulletin of minor league doings shows that Frank McDermott and Curt Eklund have signed with the Athletics.

Joe Collins and Chester Channell have signed with Denver and will play under Jack Hendricks.

Billy Crista, formerly with Evansville, has joined out with Holbrook, Mass.

Bob Tarlton has been sold by Providence to Reading.

ALBERTS HAS REPORTED.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 29.—Cy Alberts has reported to Manager Grant and is practicing with the other players. He held out on his contract, but when he saw he would get no more money he decided to sign.

ABE ATTEL LOST HIS GOOD MONEY

Abe Attel will never fight again if his wife can prevent it.

The day after Abe lost the championship to Kilbane she came to fight headquarters weeping bitterly.

"I can't stand Abe being beaten up this way," she sobbed. "If he loses the fight with Tommy Murphy he shall never step into the ring again."

Abe lost the Murphy fight, and even if he doesn't listen to his wife and quit the ring, it will be only a question of a year or so before the public will force him to quit.

Abe is one of the most remarkable of the present day fighters. He was a wonder at the scientific game, a man who made a quarter of a million in cash, yet who has little of it today, a gambler and plunger as well, but in all else a clean liver. He never smoked or drank.

He has fought 250 times—perhaps more, yet he stands a glove cleaner than any other man now in the ring, and has defended his title every time a 120-pound man could get the offer of a purse. He has been whipped just five times. He has fought perhaps 8000 rounds in all, and until the Murphy fight did not hear a mark where a glove touched him. He learned how to plunge, and hardest of all—he has tried to learn how to quit plunging.

"It's been a pretty good game," he said, reflectively, the day before the Murphy fight. "Of course, I'm kind of sore where a glove touched him. He let get away from me—but I can console myself. I'm just as good as I ever was, and I've had a mighty good time."

"I was born on Washington's birthday, twenty-eight years ago," said he, "and my mother named me for Abraham Lincoln."

"Four of us began together in San Francisco. There were Jimmy Britt and Murphy's fight. Of course, I'm kind of sore where a glove touched him. He let get away from me—but I can console myself. I'm just as good as I ever was, and I've had a mighty good time."

PHOTOS BY STANDISH.

THREE of the principal schools of the Catholic people in Fort Wayne are located on Cathedral square, in the heart of the city—the Central Catholic high school, the St. Augustine's academy and the Cathedral boys' school, each in separate buildings on three corners of the square.

In attendance at these schools are 576 scholars. At St. Augustine's academy there are 285; at the Central high school, 74; at the Cathedral boys' school, 217. The classes at the Central high school are under the instruction of the brothers, and those at St. Augustine's and the Cathedral in charge of the sisters.

The Sentinel today gives views of the scholars at study in rooms of each of the schools, with the study halls at the St. Augustine's academy and the Central high school, and the department of physics at the St. Augustine's academy, sixteen views in all—pictures from life as presented almost any day of the school year.

All the schools are well equipped in the arrangement of rooms and especially favored in regard to instructors. The Sisters and brothers in charge of the schools have made the education of the youth their life work and are splendidly fitted for it by education, training and temperament.

The 576 scholars climbing the ladder of knowledge on Cathedral square are certainly fortunate in regard to their educational advantages.

And what is said here of the schools on Cathedral square could be said of the Catholic schools throughout this diocese. All of the parishes have their schools—in the city and throughout this diocese. The schools are the pride of the bishop. Rev. H. J. Alving, and during his bishopric he has been the means of advancing them greatly in efficiency and standing. This has been particularly the case in regard to the Central high school, which was established by Bishop Alving. It has done and is doing a great work for the youth.

MAIL CARRIER'S
DOUBLE MISHAP

Escaped Death on Rail to Be Nearly Drowned in a Ditch.

WAS ON TRACKS AS
TRAIN APPROACHED

Yanked on Reins and Horse
Backed Vehicle Down
Embankment.

After escaping death by being struck by a fast passenger train a rural mail carrier narrowly escaped drowning in a ditch filled with water one and a half miles west of Arcola yesterday. He was driving down the pike leading from Dunfee and failed to notice that he was about to cross the Pennsylvania tracks until he heard the screech of the whistle of the engine pulling train 21, which was running at the rate of sixty miles an hour. At this time his horse was about to step on the track. The driver yanked on the reins and the animal backed just in time to escape. Everything would have been all right with the mail carrier had his horse not become frightened and backed the rig and himself into the ditch. The engine on the second section of No. 21 noticed the mail carrier's dilemma and stopped to give assistance. The train crew pulled him out of his wagon, which was nearly covered with water, and then helped the horse, which was sinking into the mucky earth at the bottom of the ditch until just his head appeared above the water. Neither the driver nor horse were injured, but the former suffered considerably from exposure before he got relief. Andy A. Miller was the engineer on the train which figured in the accident.

MAX HORNING SICK.

Well Known Engineer Undergoes Surgical Operation.

Max Horning, one of the best known passenger engineers in the employ of the Pennsylvania, is in the Lutheran hospital, where he was operated upon yesterday morning for hernia. A telephone inquiry this morning brought the response from one of the attendants at the hospital that Mr. Horning passed a somewhat restless night, but his condition is favorable and he is expected to rapidly recover. Engineer Horning's ailment is the result of an accident near Lima fifteen years ago. He was disabled for awhile following that accident, but until this week had been able to work most of the time. News of an exaggerated form concerning the nature of Mr. Horning's ailment was in circulation at the roundhouse and elsewhere this morning and created considerable anxiety among his friends. He has been employed on the Pennsylvania ever since 1883 and is known and liked by every man in the train service. Mr. and Mrs. Horning reside at 2033 South Calhoun street.

The best movement of road machines from the local factory is towards the south, but orders from all parts of the country are coming to the company.

Mr. Irvin is now filling his third term in that office.

WEAK HEART NOT WANTED

"Big Bill" Edwards' Good Story That Illustrates the Supreme Value of Unity.

"Big Bill" Edwards, who bosses New York's street cleaning department, talked at the annual dinner of the City Hall Reporters' association of the need for united effort among the city officials.

"The men of every organization should learn how to get together," said "Big Bill." "The only way we can get anywhere in this world is by united effort. We ought to stop thinking of what we would individually like, and go to thinking of what we can do if we do it altogether. And men can't get together unless they pack a punch. A pessimist is a dead weight. I wouldn't have him on the premises."

He told this little story of a bygone football game to illustrate his point. It was between Harvard and Princeton—"Big Bill" was a star on the Princeton line-up—and Princeton's team had not been playing any too good ball that season. Whereas Harvard had been a sensation.

"We were on the way to the dressing room," said "Big Bill." "We hadn't got into our uniforms yet. The best man on our team waked with the captain.

"I'm afraid we're going to be beaten," said he. "I've been thinking this over, and I don't see where we have a chance to beat Harvard."

"What's that?" asked the captain. "I've been comparing the two teams," said this star player, "and I don't think that we can possibly beat Harvard."

"By thunder," bellowed the captain, striking the other man—the face, "you needn't put your uniform on. I'll have no such man as you on a team I run. Go back to the stands. I don't let you in the dressing room." "And," finished "Big Bill," "Princeton won."

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy
Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness.

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears t. nose, head and throat and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and cannot be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to take.

Liquor Habit Cured IN FIVE DAYS

It is a known fact that persons addicted to the liquor habit shorten their lives; that the constant use of liquor will produce diseases and cause financial loss or failure.

This treatment is harmless and leaves no bad effects. No minerals or injections used.

Each patient is given a private room. Meals are served in the room of each patient. No one knows you have taken the treatment unless you tell.

We contract to effect a complete cure satisfactory to the patient or the fee shall be refunded on leaving the institution and the treatment costs nothing.

Seavey Hardware Co., fencing and netting gates, etc., furnished at cost, $102.

There are other firms and individuals who rendered the Playground association valuable services for the purpose of enabling the committee to carry out the construction work at the lowest possible cost, but the names are not mentioned in deference to their wishes.

It is only proper to state, however, that credit be given our local papers for the liberal manner in which they at all times gave valuable space to everything connected with the work.

To the cost of equipment as per statements should also be added the value of the pavilion constructed the previous year at an expense of about $500 on the Pettit grounds, which it was subsequently decided was not of sufficient size to justify maintaining, and this pavilion was, therefore, new to the new grounds, reconstructed and fitted with lavatories, etc.

Everything considered and on a comparative basis of valuation, the construction of the pavilion on the Pettit grounds could not be duplicated today for less than $7,000 to $8,000; outside of the cost of salaries of teachers, attendants, caretakers, light, water, etc., which, if included, would easily represent the investment made last year for the health and happiness of the children of our community through this association, about $10,000.

The following summary also deserves your notice, as representing the sources of revenue in the order of amounts received:

MONIA

Is too often the fatal sequence, a coughs that hang on weaken the system and lower the vital resistance.

In the total cash contribution of $500 referred to, it is also interesting to note that two firms and four individuals subscribed $400 and the balance $100, to make up the total of $435 (outside of annual dues), was subscribed in amounts of $10 and less by sixteen subscribers; or, in other words, two firms and eleven citizens provided the entire subscription account.

No statement is made by this committee on the cost of the playground ground. The expense of providing and equipment of same complete was taken care of entirely by the donor, Mr. S. F. Bowser. Respectfully submitted,

ALBION MAN IS GIVEN A PARDON

Eli Hastings Freed by Governor on Board's Recommendation.

NINE GET PAROLES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—Governor Marshall, acting in each instance in accordance with the recommendations of the state board of pardons, has signed pardons for three persons in Indiana penal institutions, granted nine paroles and refused clemency to twenty-two petitioners. The report of the state board, compiled from its five-day session last week, discusses approximately eighty-five cases, which have been pleaded before it. Two cases, passed on by the board, have been held up at least temporarily by the governor.

The persons pardoned included Bernard Freedman, alleged to have been sentenced to the state prison for conspiracy to commit a felony on perjured evidence. One murderer was included in the list of those pardoned—John Ezra, sentenced from Sullivan county, April 18, 1895, for life for murder in the second degree. Ezra had been on parole prior to the issuing of the pardon and a letter received by the state board from A. J. Burrick, a mine foreman of Jaconville, vouches for the exemplary life the man has led since his parole.

Hastings is Pardoned.

The other person pardoned was Eli Hastings, sentenced to the state prison for two to fourteen years from Noble county, March 24, 1911, for assault and battery with intent to murder. The report of the state board to the governor declares that Hastings never should have been incarcerated and that he has no criminal tendencies.

According to the board's statements Hastings, at the time of the alleged crime, was a farmer, 46 years old. He believed he had an interest in a certain piece of property in Albion, Ind., out of which he was obtaining no rent from the tenant, David E. Hively. Hastings went to the barn on that property one day in February, 1911, with a hatchet and nails to nail up the barn doors.

Hively went out to the barn, according to the facts related by the state board's report, and resisted Hastings by pushing the barn door open when Hastings would push it shut. In pushing it open Hively is said to have knocked Hastings down twice. Hively is said to have struck Hastings with a piece of timber. Hastings then threw the hatchet at Hively, but, according to the report, the latter was protected by the barn doors and the weapon did not strike him. Hastings conducted his own defense at the trial, and for that reason was convicted, in the belief of the list of the Paroled.

Persons paroled by Governor Marshall, on recommendation of the state board, follows:

Steve Banasah, sentenced to state reformatory from St. Joseph county, March 15, 1909, one to fourteen years, for breaking into a car.

William Fitzgerald, sentenced to state prison from Cass county, Jan. 23, 1899, for life for murder.

Harvey Lawson, sentenced to state prison from Marion county, Sept. 19, 1908, one to eight years, for petit larceny.

Ray E. Larimer, sentenced to state reformatory from Miami county, Oct. 4, 1908, one to eight years, for petit larceny.

Carl Peters, sentenced to state reformatory from Porter county, June 1, 1909, two to fourteen years, for house-breaking.

Emmanuel A. Kallen, sentenced to state prison from Elkhart county, Jan. 23, 1911, two to fourteen years, for embezzlement.

Hugh Atkinson, sentenced to state reformatory from Lawrence county, Sept. 2, 1907, one to fourteen years, for grand larceny.

Wesley Hayes, sentenced to state reformatory from Miami county, Oct. 8, 1908, one to eight years, for petit larceny.

Nick Parnell, sentenced to state reformatory from Kosciusko county, Dec. 30, 1909, one to eight years, for petit larceny.

Three Murderers Refused.

The refusals, issued by the governor, include three murder cases and one manslaughter case. Charles Ward, sentenced from Marion county for the alleged murder of a man named McIntire, in February, 1908, was one whose case had been continued from former meetings of the board. John Lapidat, sentenced from Lake county, Dec. 10, 1906, to be hanged, and later having his sentence commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Hanly, was another. Charles E. Shepherd, sentenced from Jay county in June, 1902, was the third murderer refused clemency. The plea of Thomas J. Harry, sentenced from Vanderburg county, Nov. 13, 1907, for two to twenty-one years, for manslaughter, was refused.

Harry shot and killed a boy named Melchor in a controversy during a drinking spree on a boat on the Ohio river. His record in prison was not particularly good and the board held that the nature of his crime in itself did not warrant clemency.

Other persons refused, including two women. Harrison Cannaday, John Burns, Isaac Abbott, Mint Stettler, Hyman Baron, Viola Gerard, Glenn See, Christopher Knoop, Frank Baldwin, James Bedwell, George Hoppe, David Pitzelo, Bert Hooker, Grace Anderson, Fred Smith, Noah Morehead, Arlio Manuels and Arthur Williams.

Eleven prisoners, whose cases were before the board, had been paroled by the boards of parole at the various institutions and approximately forty cases were continued by the board.

DON'T NEGLECT A CHILD'S COUGH.

The "Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. Coughs and colds that unchecked lead to croup, bronchitis and pneumonia, yield quickly to the healing and soothing qualities of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Contains no opiates and no harmful drugs, is a medicine, not a narcotic. Refuse substitutes. Dreier Drug Co.

DELAY IN LINE EXTENSION.

W. H. Federjohann, of Decatur, president of the Fort Wayne & Springfield Interurban company, who visited in Fort Wayne Friday night, stated that there is no immediate plan arranged for the extension of the line to Portland. He added that while there is an effort on foot to secure sufficient funds with which to make the extension at a later date, no hope is entertained of beginning the work this year, as was planned last autumn.

"MUTT AND JEFF."

The Big Screen of the Musical Comedy
Season at Majestic Monday.

The most talked of play of the season will be here for an engagement at the Majestic theater Monday matinee and night. "Mutt and Jeff," this Hill's magnificent production of Bud Fisher's clever cartoon creation, is the sensation of this and of many past theatrical seasons. It's the one real acknowledged musical comedy hit. The most famous cartoon play in history. It is creating new box office records in the four corners of the United States. It is the greatest laugh-producer ever conceived by a playwright. The greatest theatrical syndicate in the world has caused the news to be spread broadcast that "Mutt and Jeff" is the financial success of the year. It shows which way the wind blows. The people want to laugh; they don't want to weep or worry over morbid and depressing plays. Neither do they want to rack their brains over problem plays. The public has declared itself for a good play, irrespective of who plays it, as long as it is well played. Patrons have declared themselves for equality. They want to see a company of performers who work together on an equal footing for their pleasure and amusement. One Hill sends an adequate company of forty-five singers, dancers and comedians, including a chorus of unusually pretty girls, to the Majestic theater. "Mutt and Jeff" is a laughing vehicle almost to excess. If it were not for the relief afforded by the several pretty musical numbers, an over-sufficiency of merriment might prove fatal. The play contains everything so dear to the theatergoer's heart—girls, music, gorgeous costumes, beautiful scenery and fun galore; of the clean kind that you can take your grandmother to see without a blush. Better "like" right down to the box office and annex a "couple of pastebords" for the big screen.

"THE SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS."

New Book Play at the Majestic Tuesday
Matinee and Night.

Occasionally some play strikes a note that rings out clear and true in the midst of the commonplace and impresses its auditor with the thought that it was written not for gain, not for pastime, but because some man had something to say to other men and he took this means of expression.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his novel of the same name, is this kind of a play. Mr. Wright had felt within his soul the peace and beauty of the hills and he wished to set down their meaning before him. He made a play that in plot is compelling, one that never fails in sincerity. The people who move in it are so human that the auditor will pick them out for like and dislike as if he really knows them.

There is the shepherd, the man who came to the hills to learn, and remained to teach; Old Matt, who cherished the memory of a wrong that could never be righted; Young Matt, a herculean of the hills country, whose strength of heart and soul equaled the strength of his body; Sammy Lane, bright and buoyant with the youth of the hill country; and the other quaint characters that give the play with humor.

The scene of the play is in the hills of the Ozark mountains. The mists of the valleys, the glories of the sunsets, the magnificent vistas from the summits, have been brought out by the wonderful ingenuity of the scenic artist and elec-

Musical Comedy at Temple

Joe Maxwell's "A Night in a Police Station," Rollicking Musical Success With Cast of Ten Tops Great Bill.

Art Raphael, Original Singing and Color Crayon Artist at the Temple Next Week

Joe Maxwell's rollicking musical comedy, "A Night in a Police Station," with Jerry O'Donnell and a cast of ten well known musical comedy stars, tops a great bill opening at the Temple Monday matinee. Special scenery and electrical effects are carried. The girls in the act were with the LaSalle beauty chorus and they sure can sing and dance. A few of the song hits will be "April Fool," "Always Pick On Me," "In All My Dreams," "Baby Rose," "I Want a Girl," "Mary, You're a Big Girl Now." The cast with the rollicking musical hit is as follows: Lieut. Jerry O'Donnell, Jerry O'Donnell, McBooth Walkingham (a fallen star), W. H. Creamer, Dorman Jim Hicks, Andrew McGlinchey, Sgt. Bill Robbins, James Whelan, Mounted Policeman Conway, Elmer Leyton, Lucille Mayonnaise, Marion Heyman, Gladys Goldenrod, Blaud Mordant, Marie Delcorde, Jean Caldwell, William Hutcheon, Irene Hunt, Mrs. Kennedy (matron), Charlotte Gassin, Mary McSwatigan (a waif), Little Kitty Doney, Harry Thompson, rated as the best monologist in the vaudeville field, is on the big bill in his latest success, "His Honor the Mayor." Mr. Thompson has been featured all over the circuit and the patrons have many a good laugh in store for them as his act is for laughing purposes only.

The well known star, L. H. Rose, who is ably assisted by Mrs. L. H. Rose and Billy Robinson in vaudeville's biggest and best scenic production, "A Matter of Customs," which has been the sensation of the season, is on the star bill. The act carries as much scenery and effects as most road attractions.

Paul Quinn and Joe Mitchell will present their latest comedy success, which was written for laughing purposes only, "The Lemon City Land Agent." Both comedians are well known stars and in their present offering they are said to be seen at their best.

Bertha Walker and Charles Ill will present a delightful little comedy playlet which is chock full of bright situations, "Just a Girl."

Roland Travers is an illusionist extraordinary and he is one of the cleverest in his line.

The English tenor singer, Art Raphael, is rated as some singer and color crayon artist.

Prof. Dicey has arranged a splendid musical program, which completes one of the very best bills of the entire Temple season.

FRANCIS WILSON,

In His Own Comedy Success, "The Bachelor's Baby," Coming to Majestic.

Francis Wilson, who has been making his audiences laugh for a good many years, and who should speak with authority, says that "it is much easier to make people cry than it is to make them laugh." With his mellow voice, his nimble feet, his merry eye and his own peculiar mannerisms this player has one of the largest followings in the country and is generally regarded as being one of the best laugh-producers upon the

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 15 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membrane is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in quaiacel and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you.

American stage. Ever since he shook the dust of comic opera off his feet, Mr. Wilson has been pleasing his large following with more legitimate plays, but it is said that neither in any of the many comic operas which he produced or in any of the laughing plays which he has presented has he found a part better suited to his requirements than the one which he is playing in "The Bachelor's Baby."

THE DEFENDER OF CHARLESTON

HE WAS for whom Fort Moultrie was named was a famous Revolutionary soldier, and was born in England in 1781. His father, Dr. John Moultrie, came to this country in 1783 and settled in Charleston, S. C. Young Moultrie gained his first experience of soldiery as an Indian fighter. In an expedition against the Choctaws, in 1781, he was in command of a light infantry company in Colonel James Grant's regiment. The afterward famous Marion was a lieutenant in the same regiment.

When the Provincial Congress of South Carolina convened at Charleston, in 1776, Moultrie was a member of the parish of St. Helena. He was appointed colonel of the Second South Carolina Infantry. Immediately he set out to provide for the protection of Charleston.

The fact that a flag was needed for signaling caused Colonel Moultrie to weave the first American flag displayed in South Carolina.

When the British fleet arrived off Charleston, June 28, 1776, it began an attack upon Moultrie's harbor fortifications. He had only thirty-one guns and a sadly inadequate supply of powder. The fleet from within 250 feet of the fort on Sullivan's Island poured heavy cannonades, which hit the mark but sank harmlessly into the soft palmetto logs.

Moultrie used his fire with great discrimination, but terrible effect. It is said that he coolly smoked his pipe while he directed his men. Every shot seems to have told. The firing kept up until nine o'clock and the British withdrew. Moultrie had delivered the city from an enemy who did not again attack Charleston for nearly three years.

Moultrie rendered later aid to the patriotic cause and lived to see the new government firmly established. He died at Charleston, September 27, 1805.

MARGARET ILLINGTON

To Appear at Majestic Soon in a New Play.

Charles Kenyon, the author of "Kindling," in which Miss Margaret Illington will appear in this city at the Majestic theater soon, seems to have struck the path of progression in a new theme which he has given to the theater-going public after a season of worthless plays of the conventional type. Newer and fresher in treatment, original touches and characterization, new ideas and a subject which is of vital interest in every large city of the country, Miss Illington, who won fame in "The Thief," is said to have "come back" better than ever, and in her portrayal of Maggie Schultz and in the heights of emotionalism in which she is forced to rise amply justifies her being called the greatest emotional actress of our native stage. Miss Illington will be supported by the same brilliant company

PHONED OUT OF FIERY HOME.
Directing Child by Wire, Neighbor Saves Little Brood.

Williamsport, Pa., March 30.—When the home of William Day, a tenant farmer several miles above the city, took fire, a twelve-year-old daughter was in charge of four young brothers and sisters. She called up a neighboring farm-house to give the alarm. Already the way of escaping seemed to be cut off. The farmer's wife at the other end of the line directed the child how to get out of the burning house. The girl stood at the phone receiving and transmitting directions to the frightened brothers and sisters until the last one had safely left the house. Then she hung up the receiver and dashed to the outside and safety.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the children of the Sabbath school will celebrate the Passover feast in the vestry room of the synagogue.

The Study circle will meet as usual Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the vestry room. The festival will not interfere with the meeting.

Pesach or the Feast of Passover. Beginning this year on Monday at sundown, April 1st, and lasting for one week, Pesach, the annual feast of Passover or of Unleavened Bread, will be celebrated in Jewish homes and synagogues. This, the oldest feast of the Jewish calendar, carries us back well nigh thirty-three hundred years. The awakening of spring has its normal appeal and its practical symbolism to every primitive people. The agricultural aspect of this holiday is seen in the phrase "That it is to be kept in the season of the Month of Ripening." When the barley sown in winter has become ripe and when an offering consisting of an omer (one-half gallon) of barley was brought in gratitude to the Giver of all good.

The historical significance of the festival has over-shadowed its agricultural aspect. As the Feast of Freedom it commemorates the emancipation of Israel from Egyptian bondage and his entrance into the dignity and destiny of national life. It thus marks the birth

CHILLED MEAT FOR AN ARMY.

France Tries It With Success for Short Periods and Will Make Further Tests.

The use of chilled meat for the French army is being started, according to the Revue Generale du Froid. France has used frozen beef to a considerable extent, just as do the British and German armies, but the difficulty that is presented with chilled beef is that it is not known how long or how well it will stand the frequent handling necessary to army transportation.

To further this trial cold storage depots were established in the last year at Paris, Epinal, Toul, Verdun and Belfort. When the hot weather of the summer arrived the chilled meats from these depots were carried to the camps in motor trucks and distributed thence to the various regiments by horse drawn vehicles. Very satisfactory results are said to have been obtained.

The temperature in the cold storage was from 32 to 34 degrees Fahrenheit. The meat was encased in anti-septic muslin bags when taken out for delivery to the army.
The limit within which chilled meat could be handled satisfactorily seemed to be about two days.

THREAT HELD NO TERRORS

Young Minister Decidedly Would Not Object to the Letters D. D. Following His Name.

A young minister settled over a small country parish was instructed by his parishoners to secure a piano for their use, according to the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune. He did so, telling the dealer to charge the bill for rental to the secretary of the parish. When the bill amounted to $25, the society being unable to pay it, as well as the salary of the pastor, the music dealer dunned the minister for the money, telling him that he assumed the responsibility. The latter replied that he never assumed the responsibility of another, having all he could do to pay his own bills, whereupon the dealer threatened to sue him.

A short time after our friend received a letter from a New York collection agency, to which, as well as several following, he paid no attention until the following short but definite letter came:
"Dear Sir: Unless you remit at once we shall publish you all over the country as a delinquent debtor."
To which he replied:
"Gentlemen: Ever since I entered the ministry I have been struggling for the title of D. D. Go ahead."

When Space is Very Scarce.
"But, of course, you have no closet room," remarked the visitor who had been enthusiastically introduced to all the advantages of a studio bedroom, once the drawing-room of a large city house. "Haven't I?" exclaimed the occupant of the room gleefully. "Just wait until I show you my closet room!" And she whisked open the door of one of the handsome mission bookcases that lined the walls. All of the bookcases had green silk curtains on brass rods within the glass doors, some of the curtains being drawn and others pushed back to show the books. She showed her guest how the shelves in some of the cases had been removed and books provided from which frocks and skirts hung comfortably and entirely out of sight behind the curtains. "In these drawers at the bottom of the bookcases," she added, "I keep blouses and lingerie, and everything is out of sight and entirely protected from dust."

Effect of Artificial Lights on Air.

Tests on the influence of light sources on the air of a dwelling room have just been made in a room 14 feet long, 12 feet wide, and 12 feet high, provided with one door and two windows, also a latticed ventilator 8 inches from the floor and one on the opposite side 8 inches from the ceiling. For the first experiment a tantalum electric lamp was burned; for the second experiment a Weisbach gas light of like candle power was used.

CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT

Everybody Should Be Awake

To the Editor of The Sentinel:—I have been requested by a number of people to say something in one of my letters about the so-called corrupt practice act, and how it will affect the coming primary election.

It has long been felt that the unscrupulous candidate had a great advantage, especially at the nominating convention, over his more honorable competitor, because of his willingness to do things and spend money that ought not to be done, or spent, if one was looking to the best interests of his party, or the honorable performance of the duties of the office he seeks.

These corrupt practices gave the name to the law in question, and the fact that a certain candidate for judge of the supreme court refused to pay what he deemed an exorbitant assessment, much larger than was necessary to secure an honest election, caused the legislators to insert in the law special provisions prohibiting everybody from soliciting money from a judge or a candidate for a judicial position, and also prohibiting a candidate for a judgeship entering into the poll and haul of a contest.

The legislature of 1911 passed a corrupt practice act, applicable to all caucuses and primary elections, as well as the general elections. It requires all campaigns to be made through political committees or agents, requiring them to keep an exact account of all money they pay out. See Acts of 1911, pages 288 and 289.

Section 4, page 291, makes it unlawful for "any political committee to solicit contributions from any candidate for any office or from any person desiring to become a candidate . . . but candidates may make voluntary payments of money to the treasurers of such committees for any of the purposes permitted by this act." Notice, however, that the contributions must be used for the purposes permitted by this act.

It further provides that no contributions or favors shall be made, extended by or solicited from any judge or any candidate for judge, to promote the success or defeat of any political party.

Section 5, page 292, declares that "no person, other than a treasurer of political agent, shall pay any of the expenses of any election, caucus or primary election," except that "a candidate may pay his own expenses for postage, telegrams, telephone, stationery, letters, circular letters, printing, expressage and traveling . . . that all contributions shall be expended in accordance with and subject to the provisions and restrictions of this act, and provided that such contributions shall not be solicited from any candidate for office," etc.

Section 6, page 293, declares it to be lawful for a treasurer to spend money for the following expenses, and none other:
"A. Hiring halls and music for conventions, public meetings, etc."
"B. Printing and circulating political articles, etc."
"C. Printing and distributing sample ballots, etc."
"D. Of renting rooms for headquarters, etc."

"E. Compensating clerks, stenographers, employed in committee rooms, challengers, watchers, etc., employed in the registering or voting rooms, or at the polls."
"F. Traveling expenses of public speakers, etc."
"G. Necessary postage, telegrams and conveyance charge for carrying sick and infirm persons to and from the polls, etc."

"H. The costs and expenses of messengers from the state to the county committees, and for other expenses."
"I. Providing conditions and entertainments for the members of the state central or county central committee."

Yours respectfully,
T. E. ELLISON.

JURORS WOULD HOLD OFFICERS

Blamed for Killing of Blunt in Chase After Convicts.

FEELING RUNS HIGH

Springfield, Neb., March 30.—A coroner's jury investigating the death of Roy Blunt returned a verdict early this morning recommending that Chief of Police Briggs, of South Omaha, his special deputy, John C. Trouton, and Sheriff Myers, of Lincoln, be held to the district court for the killing of Roy Blunt.

Intense interest was shown in the inquiry into the killing of young Roy Blunt ten days ago in a fight between officers and three escaped convicts near this village.

Jammed into every nook and corner on the stage of the little opera house where the inquiry was held, standing in the aisles and sitting on window sills, six hundred persons listened to the proceedings. Half as many more were turned away during the day.

The impression generally expressed among the crowds on the streets is that matters have been considerably cleared and that the feeling of resentment against the officers has been noticeably modified. The verdict will be carried to Governor Armstrong at Papillion.

Chief of Police Briggs and Sheriff Grant Chase, of Sarpy county, were the most important witnesses. Briggs had been criticized and even threatened with violence for his part in the fight that ended in Blunt's death, many of Blunt's friends taking the position that Briggs, Trouton and Myers were responsible for the killing of Blunt.

Briggs admitted that once the fight was on, he gave no more consideration to the life of young Blunt than to his own.

"I decided that we had to fight it out," said Briggs, "and I made up my mind to fight until they killed me or the convicts were dead or captured. Revolver bullets or bullets from 'pump' guns were dropping around us like hail and there was nothing to do but defend ourselves. I presume we acted as saucily as any person might be expected to do under like conditions."

STATESMEN WILL HONOR MARSHALL

Receptions for Governor When He Visits Washington Next Week.

OF POLITICAL HUE

Washington, March 30.—When Governor Thomas H. Marshall comes to Washington next week, he will find two receptions planned in his honor. These receptions will have a decided political tinge and will be for the purpose of bringing him into close touch with the democratic members of congress who will be factors at the Baltimore convention. The government's modesty has prompted him to discourage members of the delegation who had originally planned to give a dinner in his honor. The governor has the floor privilege at both branches of congress.

It is now planned to escort him first to the house wing of the capital, where he will be asked to take a stand in the spacious south lobby while members of the house are brought out of the chamber and presented to him. Representative Dixon, dean of the Indiana delegation, will have this part of the program in charge. After it is over, the governor will be asked to go over to the senate where Senators Shively and Kern will see that all of the democratic senators are presented to him, either in the democratic cloakroom or the marble room.

REMONSTRATE AGAINST DITCH.

Big Protest is Filed in Huntington County.

A remonstrance against the Little River ditch has been filed in Huntington county by Attorney E. G. Hoffman, of Fort Wayne, and will be given a hearing before Judge Cook. A petition asking for the widening of the ditch from the city of Huntington to the Allen county line, was filed in March two years ago. Opposition to the project has been offered since and remonstrators have employed attorneys to take care of their interests.

The improvement if carried out will cost approximately $325,000 and will affect about 600 farmers residing in Lake, Washington, Abbot, Wayne and Lafayette townships, Allen county.

C. E. DAGENETT.

Mr. Dagenett is supervisor of Indian employment, stationed at Denver, Col.

MINERS VOTE TO RETURN TO WORK

English Coal Workers Indicate It by Large Majority.

ARE NOW RESUMING

London, March 30.—Returns which have come in today from the scattered coal districts of Great Britain show that large majorities of the miners desire to resume work.

The results thus far in Monmouthshire are five to one in favor of returning to the pits. Hundreds more miners went back to work in Warwickshire today, and it is anticipated that there will be a general resumption in that county on Monday.

At a conference of the miners in Glasgow a large majority agreed to recommend the men to vote for the resumption.

Although the first votes taken among the miners of Lancashire on the question "Are you in favor of resuming work pending the settlement of the miners' rates of wages in the various grades by the district boards to be appointed under the coal mines minimum wage act" show that a majority of the men there are opposed to returning to work until the district boards have fixed the minimum wages, there are indications throughout the rest of the country which show an increasing desire of the miners to return to the pits.

There is considerable reluctance, however, among the colliers to take any definite step until the result of the ballot of the whole of the miners, about which there seems to be little doubt, is definitely known.

Practically all the leaders of the men are advising the miners that nothing will be gained by remaining out.

In the collieries where some of the men are already working there have been additions to their numbers at almost every shift, and Monday next probably will see all the non-unionists and a good sprinkling of trade unionists back in the mines. Even then, however, there will be but a small proportion of the total of the miners employed in all the coal fields, and the other industries affected will not be able for some time yet to get the supplies of fuel they so badly require.

There has been today a further closing down of factories, while the public utilities companies and municipalities which had laid in enough coal to keep them going for over a month are beginning to feel the pinch and are restricting the supplies of gas and electricity to their consumers.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to thank friends and neighbors and Rev. Father Mungovan for their kindness and sympathy during the sickness and death of our beloved son and brother.

ARMED GUARDS PATROL LEVEE

Prevent Cutting of Dike at Hickman, Menaced by Flood.

DAMAGE VERY HEAVY

Louisville, Ky., March 30.—Telephone advices from Hickman, Ky., early today say the Mississippi river levee there held throughout the night, but that the swollen waters are rising gradually and it is feared the snapping point of the levee's strength will be reached before night. All night long men struggled along the rushing waters. They piled hundreds of sand bags behind the levee and built up the great bank to ward off the surging current that rose higher each hour.

Guards armed with rifles who patrolled the levee added to the scene's grimness. There had been a dispute among the townspeople as to the advisability of cutting the levee at the lower part of town in order to avert the flooding of the upper part. Guards were placed, finally, to prevent the cutting at any point.

Advices from Columbus this morning say the town is under three and four feet of water. The property damage has been great, houses are floating about in the streets, and all the inhabitants have taken to the highlands.

The only life loss has occurred at Hickman, where a babe, dropped from a boat by its mother last night drowned before it was recovered.

KANKAKEE DYKE BREAKS.

Miles of Indiana Farms Under Water; Flood Invades Schneider.

Hammond, Ind., March 30.—Twenty feet of the Grant Williams dyke on the Kankakee river gave way early today between the towns of Shelby and Schneider and fifteen feet of water swept out to inundate the surrounding country. The submerged land consists of many miles of the most valuable farm land in Indiana.

Reports from Schneider indicate that the water is slowly inundating the town. Fears are entertained that other portions of the dyke jammed by ice will be swept away.

FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT.

Rock Island, Ill., March 30.—The Mississippi river at this point is rising at a rate of three inches an hour. It has overflowed its banks in the west part of the city and many families have been driven from their homes.

OBLIGED TO USE BOATS.

Sheboygan, Wis., March 30.—The Sheboygan river overflowed its banks at the Sheboygan flats in the western part of the city today and several factories have closed down because their men are unable to get to work. The water has spread over a wide area and many people are obliged to use boats to get to the main part of town.

NEARING DANGER MARK.

St. Louis, Mo., March 30.—With the Mississippi river here marking 29 feet this morning and rising it was expected that the danger mark, 30 feet, would be reached during the day. Reports of broken levees are being received from the flooded territory in the vicinity of the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL FORECAST.

Fort Wayne, Ind., March 30.—For Fort Wayne and vicinity: Fair tonight; Sunday cloudy with colder by afternoon or night; lowest tonight about 30 degrees.

GENERAL FORECAST.

Washington, March 30.—For Indiana—Generally cloudy and unsettled tonight and Sunday.

For Ohio—Fair tonight; Sunday increasing cloudiness.

For Lower Michigan—Unsettled with snow or rain tonight or Sunday; colder Sunday in north portion.

Summary of Weather Conditions.

The storm which has passed beyond the New England coast, gave some rain over the Atlantic coast states yesterday, and it has been followed by fair weather, which now prevails over practically all districts from the Rockies to the Atlantic. The western storm remains central west of the Rockies, and it is probable that it will not extend to this section at all. An area of high pressure, accompanied by colder weather, has appeared in the British North-west, and stations north of the Dakotas report temperatures from four to eight degrees below zero this morning.

In this section fair weather will prevail tonight, probably followed by cloudy weather Sunday, with colder by Sunday afternoon or Sunday night.

The Maumee is at a stage of 19.3 feet this morning, and about stationary; it will probably not rise much higher and will begin to fall by Sunday.

The Mississippi and Ohio are from six to seven feet above flood stage at Evansville, Cairo and Memphis, and still rising.

BUSINESS DULL DURING THE WEEK

The Unseasonable Weather Causes All Lines of Trade to Stand Still.

THE BANK CLEARINGS

Fort Wayne business men declare that all lines of trade has been unusually dull during the last two weeks and that hardly a retailing merchandise concern has realized anywhere near the average profits expected at this season of the year. Demand for all sorts of spring goods is unusually slack on account of the unseasonable weather.

No relief is expected until the arrival of warmer weather. Outside work has not opened and many are out of employment and will be until the frost is out of the ground. There is a fair demand for money and a few stocks have sold during the week, but as a whole, business has been very dull.

LESSON FOR DEACON JENKINS

Disaster Followed His Unwise Attempt to Bar Women From Their Meeting Place.

Deacon Jenkins happened to the accident of coming mighty high frozen in to death recently, and here's how: He'd done sworn a solemn oath, about a yard long, that the suffragette women shouldn't hold a meetin' in his house, an' he 'peared to be in his right mind whilst he was a-swearin'; an' he fastened the windows, and double-barred the door, an' sat down to wait developments.

He didn't have to wait long. Here come the suffragette brigade, led by his good lady, two dozen strong, and findin' the house locked agin' 'em they smashed the windows and proceeded to bust the door in, in which they was quite successful; but there was no sign of the deacon when they entered, though one of 'em said she seen the remains of two legs goin' up the chimney.

The meetin' was called to order, an' didn't adjourn till 12 o'clock that night, when the deacon hollered down the chimney to his good lady to get a ladder, so that he could come down from the roof an' thaw himself.

He didn't have on no coat when he crawled up, but when he come down he had on a purty thick overcoat of icicles; but at this writin' he's thawin' most satisfactory.—

HANDSOME NEW HOME INSPECTED

G. E. Bursley & Co. Entertain a Vast Throng of Visitors.

SOME BIG FIGURES

G. E. Bursley & Co. acted as hosts last evening to a large crowd of jobbers, salesmen and local business and professional men who called to inspect the handsome new building of the company, located at the corner of Clinton and Superior streets.

The guests were allowed the freedom of the great building and roamed at will from the basement to the store room on the top floor, enthusiastically marveling at the immensity of the company's new home and at the modern and thorough plant, which is one of the best and most up to date in the state. Officials of the company and courteous attendants explained the different departments. All present congratulated the officials upon their new institution.

The office and salesrooms on the first floor were decorated for the occasion with palms and cut flowers and a musical program was rendered while the guests were entertained at a luncheon spread on long tables in the coffee room of the building.

Some idea of the immensity of the new building can be realized when it is known that the floor area measures 100,000 square feet. A total of 7,000 barrels of cement, 625,000 pounds of reinforced steel, 1,000,000 bricks, 142 car loads of gravel, 22 car loads of cinders and 40,000 pounds of fireproof sash and doors are included in the gigantic structure, which as it stands today weighs 20,000,000 pounds.

BABY FOR SALE AT $4,000.

It is a Model Infant, and Never Has Colic or Cries.

Chicago, March 30.—If there is anybody who wants a baby guaranteed never to cause any of the troubles that sometimes bring babies into unpopularity, here's a chance. Only $4,000 is needed.

Remonto Maroni, one month old, is on the market, quoted at $4,000. Pasquale and Marie Maroni, parents, who live in a dingy flat at 4836 Westworth avenue, are penniless and want to sell the baby. They say they are not able properly to support the boy and a golden haired girl of four years.

J. Calandrelli, 5000 South State street, to whom Mr. and Mrs. Maroni appealed, visited a newspaper office and announced the boy baby for sale.

"Maroni," said Calandrelli, "has been in this country only ten months. Three months after he got to Chicago a piece of steel lodged in his right wrist. He is unable to work. His wife has been taking boarders. Now the family is penniless."

The parents think $4,000 a cheap price upon the child, which is described as having these uncommon baby traits:

Never cries.
Never wakes in the middle of the night.
Never requires daddy to walk the floor.
Demands only plain baby food.
Never has colic.
Baby Remonto has large brown eyes and a fine physique and good health.

Alleged Forger Would Rather Die Than Divulge Identity.

San Francisco, March 30.—Twenty-four hours in a foul cell in the city prison after living in the Fairmount hotel, his name turned L. P. Mertens, known as J. E. Lind, from the resolve to suffer the full penalty of the law rather than divulge his true name. He is charged with forgery.

"I come from an old and honorable family in Germany," he said. "I would rather die than have my father find out the disgrace that I have brought upon myself."

Mertens is accused of having forged three checks which he tried to pass on the Thomas Cook & Son touring agency.

He tried to shoot himself when he learned that he was to be taken into custody.

He will appear in police court.

AWAY GOES ALL STOMACH MISERY

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia Five Minutes Later.

If you had some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapiesin contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

Dr. C. E. Trull, of the Ninth ward, will be a candidate for the republican nomination for county coroner. He was the nominee two years ago.

HI, THERE!

Say, all you south side people. There's a bank now on the corner where there used to be a church. And this little bank was put there, like the church of former days, to convert the thoughtless sinner from the error of his ways. We want to get the dollars you've been spending without thought.

Instead of laying them aside for the future, as you ought. The interest we will pay you. Will open up your eyes. And soon you'll find your savings quite respectable in size. A dollar is sufficient.

To open an account. And every dollar added will increase the amount. And this when drawing interest. At the rate of 4 per cent. Will make you feel quite different from the money that you've spent.
